Revolution Ended Russian Freedom

Party Dictatorship Rules Soviet's People Completely

By Lieut.-Colonel Grigori A. Tokaev

The October 1917 Revolution was a shot fired against the people. It did away with the last remnants of liberty.

This all-powerful party is known as the V.K.P. (b) (Vsesoyuznaya Kommunisichekaya Partiy Bolshevikov—or All Union Communist Party Bolsheviks).

The V.K.P. (b) is ruled by the Central Committee, which is subdivided into five main organizations, as follows:—

(a) Politburo.
(c) Orgburo.
(d) Commission of Party Control (K.P.K.).
(e) Administration.

The entire power is in the hands of the first three, but the power of the Politburo is absolute and is not limited by anything or anybody.

There is no organization or person in the U.S.S.R. with whom the Politburo may not deal in a summary manner.

For instance, it can dissolve the Supreme Council and have any and everyone of its members arrested and shot. The same applies to any minister.

On the other hand, no organization or individual can retaliate vis-a-vis the Politburo nor criticise its actions.

Any person expressing disagreement with any Politburo action, however trifling, is immediately qualified as an "enemy of the people," "spy," "traitor," etc.

There are no such things as "Ministries of the U.S.S.R.," these are nothing but Ministries of the Central Committee V.K.P. (b); Molotov is not the Foreign Minister of the U.S.S.R., but the Foreign Minister of the Politburo; ambassadors are not accredited by the "Soviet Government," but by the Politburo; the Western Powers maintain diplomatic relations not with "Russia" but with the V.K.P. (b) as represented by the Politburo.

Thus, the V.K.P. (b) has its ambassadors in practically all the countries of the world, but I have not heard of an ambassador of, say, the Labor or Conservative Party of Great Britain in Moscow.

Politburo Forms Cabinet

The main trouble of the Western world is that it has not grasped this elementary truth.

What is known in Great Britain as the Cabinet has its equivalent in the U.S.S.R., the only difference being that in the latter case it is composed exclusively of members and candidate-members of the Politburo, as will be seen from the list below:—

Politburo	Cabinet Chairman
STALIN	STALIN
MOLOTOV	MOLOTOV
MALENKOV	MALENKOV
BERIYA	BERIYA
MIKOYAN	MIKOYAN
VOZNESENSKI	VOZNESENSKI
KAGANOVICH	KAGANOVICH
ANDREEV	ANDREEV
VOROSHILOV	VOROSHILOV
BULGANIN	BULGANIN
KOSYGIN	KOSYGIN

Politburo Member Khrushchev is the dictator of the Ukraine. Candidate-Member Shvernik is the Chairman of the Praesidium of the Supreme Council, U.S.S.R.

The above form the nucleus of the Soviet elite. They are the "leaders of genius" in the U.S.S.R., and the Communist world.

On a lower scale are the members of the Secretariat, Orgburo and the Commission of Party Control: A. A. Kuznetsov, Popov, Mikhailov, Mekhlis, Andrianov, Shatalin, V. V. Kuznetsov, Suslov, Ponomarenko, Shipilov, Shkiryatov, and others.

No, king, President, Premier or Minister in the world has so much power as any of these above and, in particular, the first 11 super Ministers.

After them come the officials of the Central Committee V.K.P. (b) Administration, officials of Central Committees of the Union Republics, Provincial Committees, Town Committees, Councils of Ministers, Supreme Councils, Executive Committees, Trade Unions, Communist Youth Organizations (KOMSOMOL), etc.

This network of officialdom covers the whole country. Enough to say that there are fifty All Union Ministers in the U.S.S.R. and some 600 Republican Ministers.

It must not be forgotten that every high official, be he in a Party Committee Secretary or Minister or Chairman of a Council and so forth, has at least five deputies, and that each deputy has a number of assistants who in turn have assistants, and so on ad infintum.

This then is the picture of the tremendously heavy bureaucratic machinery which is known to the world as the U.S.S.R.

To the elite must also be added all the "Heroes of the Soviet Union," Laureates of Stalin prizes, marshals, generals, admirals, writers who toe the party line, composers who follow the party line in music, etc., etc., together with their families and close relatives.

13 Families in Kremlin

Not many of these live in conditions which could be compared with life in the Kremlin itself, and it is this latter aspect which I shall try to describe, in order to give an idea what it really is like to the Western reader.

To begin with, the Kremlin is primarily the abode of the thirteen families.

The word Kremlin is the old Russian word for fortress or citadel. The Kremlin is situated in the heart of Moscow and is surrounded by thick stone walls, which at some places reach the height of over thirty feet.

It is the centre of Bolshevik power, the H.Q. of world Communism, where all the main international Communist plots are hatched. It is here that the Communist "Premiers" like Dimitrov, "Governments" of the Terriokki type, "Generals" such as Markos, "Leaders" like Piek, "Peaceful Organizations" of the Cominform pattern, etc., are trained and organized.

Is access to the Kremlin possible for the ordinary mortal? No, not unless he is summoned through the M.V.D. guard. People do not go to the Kremlin—they are either summoned or brought there.

Any attempt by anyone to penetrate inside the Kremlin without an "invitation" would result in the person finding himself a "guest" of the M.V.D. Lubvanka Prison.

People who do not belong to the Soviet elite are never even summoned to the Kremlin.

The proverbial camel will have passed through the eye of the needle long before the ordinary Soviet citizen could hope to penetrate inside it.

Even telephone calls to the Kremlin are put through only if they emanate from the very highest Soviet officials.

The only nobodies who have reached such exalted heights are the charwomen and cleaners who live inside the walls, but have no access to the outer world.

There are only two main entrances in use and only one entrance and exit for pedestrians (Borovicheski Gate and Spasski Gate for motor traffic, and a small entrance and exit for pedestrians alongside the latter).

All Entrances Guarded

All the entrances and exits are heavily guarded by fat-faced M.V.D. officers and men.

The walls of the Kremlin are also lined with M.V.D. sentries of the M.V.D. Cadet School.

In order to illustrate how difficult it is to penetrate inside the Kremlin, even if one is summoned to attend on official business, I shall cite the example of one of my visits, which took place in 1939.

On this particular occasion I had been summoned to discuss problems of helicopter construction.

I was at my office at the Zhukovski Air Academy when I was called to the telephone by the head of the political department, who ordered me to report to him immediately.

The door into his room was closed behind me as I entered. "Comrade Tokaev," I was told, "you have been summoned to the Kremlin. How long will it take you to get ready?"

I made a hasty mental calculation—five minutes to get back to my oficfe, five minutes to assemble my papers and lock them up and five minutes to get back.

I replied that I could be ready within 15 or 20 minutes. "All right, be back here in 15 minutes and remember, not a word to anybody."

We drove through the Red Square and approached the Spasski Gate.

This gate, as stated above, has two entrances—one for the common herd on foot, the other for Big Noises in cars. Outside each stand two M.V.D. sentries with automatic rifles, and M.V.D. officers are constantly walking up and

THE BRIDE had to walk. Her 252 pounds was a little too much for new hubby, Phillip Edwards, 54, London gardener, to carry across the threshold. Former widow Mrs. Alice Barnes, 56, answered his advertisement for a "fat" bride. "Fat women are easier to get along with," he opined.

China High Command To Quit Northern Port

By Chang Kuo-Sin

NANKING, Feb. 12.—(BUP)—Authoritative sources said today that the Chinese high command has decided to abandon Tsingtao, the north China port which since the war has been headquarters for the United States western Pacific fleet.

Evacuation of the port, these sources said, will be a gradual process similar to the withdrawal now taking place of American marines and naval forces which have been stationed there.

Communists forces have encircled the port, which is on the Shantung coast, for months, but have not attacked it, apparently because of the presence there of the American forces. About 5,000 marines were stationed there at one period, but a considerable number already have been withdrawn.

Vice-Admiral Oscar C Badger, commander of the Western Pacific fleet, has not indicated whether the fleet will establish a new base farther south along the China coast, but it was believed probable that the fleet will withdraw entirely from China later.

Fall of Tsingtao to Communist forces will place them in control of all north China.

SHOWS PROFIT

Parking Meter Penny Bank For Autoist

Parking his car on 101 street and 102 avenue he put a nickle in meter C147 for one hour's parking while he shopped. The meter registered only 12 minutes.

When he left the store a half hour later his meter showed "violation".

He put a penny in for another 12 minutes parking, but nothing registered. Disgruntled, he hit the meter. A penny flew out. He hit the meter again. Another penny. Again, a nickle. Again, another nickle. Then he turned the handle and got an hour's free parking.

"I'm sure going to try that meter again," he said.

CALGARY, Feb. 12.—(CP)—The 16th biennial Alberta provincial convention of the Canadian Legion, will be held at Banff from June 12 to 15 inclusive it was announced today by David E. Fraser, provincial executive secretary.

MOTHER'S SOBS FAIL TO SAVE ERRANT SON

A mother's sobs echoed through city police court today as her 20-year-old son was led away to serve one year's imprisonment in Fort Saskatchewan jail.

For ten minutes she had pleaded that the boy, Alfred Crane Jackson, charged with obtaining a total of $17 from a local department store by means of two worthless cheques, should be dealt with leniently.

But, "I have my duty," said Magistrate A. I. Millar. "My duty requires me to give him something which will be a lesson to him. I may be sorry for your sake, but I must do my duty."

Jackson had pleaded guilty to two charges of obtaining money by means of false pretences, and to breaking his own bond to keep the peace, made before Magistarte Millar last year.

ADMITS LEGISLATURE THEFTS

Mystery Man Sentenced To 4 Months in Jail

Asking to be confined to some institution "to control his drinking," James Alexander Ferguson, no fixed address, pleaded guilty today to three charges of theft from the legislative buildings.

Thus ended a four-day mystery which had baffled city police and RCMP.

On each charge he was sentenced to four months in Fort Saskatchewan jail, sentences to be concurrent.

Magistrate Millar reminded the prisoner that he had been released from jail only last November and in sentencing, said, "I am sorry there is nothing else I can do for you."

It was brought out that late on the afternoon of Feb 8, Ferguson had entered the legislative buildings and secreted himself until the employes left at 4:30 p.m

Office ransacking and the thefts were discovered the following morning. On the belief that the prowler was still on the premises or in the immediate vicinity, a 14-man RCMP patrol was established in and around the buildings.

Central Alta. Towns Isolated By Storm

Rocky Mountain House, Nordegg Hit

Bitter col[illegible] through north-central Alberta today in the wake [illegible] swirling blizzard which left several communities co[illegible]ly isolated.

In Edmonton, [illegible] mercury dropped to 28 below [illegible] 8:30 this morning. Warmest Fri[illegible] was six below zero at 3:30 p.m.

Immediate forecast was clear and cold with light winds.

CENTRES ISOLATED

Provincial government snow plows were working night and day to reopen roads to the isolated hamlets of Nordegg, Rocky Mountain House, Saunders and Alexo in the area about 150 miles southwest of Edmonton.

No trains, buses or private cars were able to get through over drifted-packed highways following a wild blizzard of Thursday and Friday. Winds attained a maximum velocity of 50 miles an hour.

Town and country schools in the foothills settlements were closed.

Lumbering and trucking operations are at a complete standstill and a shortage of coal is feared by next week unless roads are passable.

NO MILK DELIVERIES

No milk deliveries were possible Friday but other services were more or less normal despite the blocked roads.

No bus reached there Thursday from Edmonton and bus service was stalled all day Friday. The regular CPR train was five hours late leaving Rocky Mountain House Friday. Arrival of a snowplow from Red Deer had to be awaited.

Although road and rail lines were pretty well tied up, telegraph, telephone and radio communications are being maintained.

With clearing weather Saturday it was hoped to have road and rail transport functioning again.

It seemed unlikely that CNR

System Is $192,992 'In the Red' For 1948 Operations

Second highest deficit in its history was incurred by the Edmonton Transit system as it went $192,992.51 "in the red" on 1948 operations.

Record deficit of $200,191.82 was incurred in 1920 Deficit in 1947 amount to $153,745.28.

The system faces an estimated deficit of $330,000 in 1949 unless fares are increased, or city council adopts a policy of subsidizing the system from earnings of other utilities.

MAJOR LOSS

Major portion of the 1948 deficit came from the operation of gasoline bus lines. Loss on this operation was $179,356.95. In 1947 the loss was $154,986.48

Operation of street cars showed a deficit of $44,988.

Trolley bus operation showed a profit of $31,362.92 in 1948 compared with a loss of $61,439,35 in 1947.

Capital charges, including debt reduction and interest, in 1948 totalled $148,739.72 compared with $77,739.72.

Increased charges to service the $750,000 bond issue made last year account for the large increase.

REVENUE INCREASE

Revenue in 1948 totalled $2,230,997.19, compared with $1,915,533.34 for 1947, an increase of $315,463.85.

Expenditures in 1948 were $2,423,989.70 against $2,069,278.62 in 1947, an increase of $354,711.08.

In 1948 a total of $150,866.65 was placed in depreciation account compared with $133,642.27 in 1947.

SOUND WILL SHAKE SMOG OUT OF FOG

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(CP)—High-speed vibrations that shake the "thickness" out of fog may save Britain millions of pounds in traffic hold-ups and extra lighting.

Experiments have shown that sounds too high-pitched to be heard by the human ear can purify smoke so a city fog becomes no worse than a country mist dispersing in a light breeze.

A report issued by the National Institute for Scientific Research says ultrasonic equipment can be fixed inside factory chimneys to "shatter the smoke so the big particles of grit that cause thick fogs do not get out.

PGE Growth Is Planned

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 12.—(CP)—Plans for extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, government-owned, were placed before the British Columbia legislature yesterday by Premier Byron Johnson.

An expenditure of more than $13,000,000 is called for, including $8,000,000 for extension of the rail line from the present northern terminus at Quesnel to Prince George, a distance of 83 miles. Construction will start this summer.

It is the first step in a program to tap the riches of the Peace River country, a vast inland empire rich in agricultural lands, coal and oil resources.

Completion of the rail-link to Prince George, 350 miles north of Vancouver, will provide a northward outlet for the PGE country to the prairies and to deep water shipping at Prince Rupert.

At Prince George the road will connect with the Canadian National Railways.

"We propose to continue with our resources surveys, and to approach the problem of extending the line from Prince George into the Peace River area at the earliest possible date," said the premier.

The plan outlined today includes construction of a $2,000,000 highway from Vancouver to Squamish, the southern terminal of the road. Another $3,000,000 will be spent for improved equipment for the PGE.

U.S. Canada Planning Vast Radar Screen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said today that the Canadian and United States governments are planning a vast radar interceptor network across northern Canada.

Such an aircraft detection system would screen the Arctic area across which some military strategists contend Russia would strike at this continent in event of war.

BILL IN CONGRESS

A bill providing for a widely-spaced radar screen around the United States already has been introduced in Congress. Hearings are underway before a House of Representatives armed services subcommittee on the plan estimated to cost $161,000,000.

The prospective radar stations would be spotted around the continental United States under the house bill to guard strategic air approaches.

The prime minister told reporters the whole project is still in the planning stage.

He disclosed there are Americans at "weather stations and LOARN (long range aid to navigation) establishments in northern Canada but there are not as many of these places as some of your army and air force people would like to see in existence."

NO OFFICIAL PLANS

He said the Canadian government has not received any official suggestions from the United States for expansion of the network but added:

"We've seen plans which call for expenditures so great that if they were carried out, there wouldn't be any money left for anything else. There have been planners in Canada and planners in the United States working on this."

He said plans "have never gone beyond this very preliminary state."

Mr. St. Laurent, who is here for a visit with President Truman, strongly supported the North Atlantic regional security arrangement which Canada is helping negotiate.

Eisenhower Back In U.S. Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The United States has called Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower back into service to help answer some grave questions of future military policy.

The wartime Supreme Allied Commander was named by the White House yesterday to serve as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—a group which includes the top military men of the United States Army, Navy and Air Force, as well as the Chief of Staff to the President.

Eisenhower is on leave from his job as president of Columbia University. In his new post, officials said, he undoubtedly will be called on to act as peace-maker between the Air Force and Navy, which have frequently clashed over the role each would play in aerial warfare.

Fire-Fighting Equipment Inadequate at Connor's Hill

An admission that fire-fighting equipment was inadequate in the Connor's Hill district was heard at the Friday afternoon inquest into the death of three-year-old Michael Kozak who perished when his parents' home at 39 Connor's road was destroyed by fire Feb. 3.

Statement was made by Fire Marshal Jack Booth midway in the inquiry, which eventually produced a verdict of "purely accidental, with no blame attached to any person."

COMMISSIONERS BLAMED

In answer to coroner Dr. M. M. Cantor's question, "Is fire-fighting equipment in the Connor's Hill district adequate?" the fire marshal answered:

"No, it is not adequate. And I do not see how the situation can be improved, because of the city commissioners' policy of not allowing any sewer or water installations in the district."

JURY FINDINGS

Findings and recommendations of the six-man jury were:

1. Arrangements for fire control in the Connor's Hill area are inadequate and their lack constitutes a serious hazard.
2. No further dwellings should be constructed in the area.
3. All dwellings in the area should have individual fire-fighting equipment.

Removal Asked Of 50 Families

City commissioners Monday night will recommend to city council that 50 squatters in the Connor's road district be given a time limit for occupancy in the area.

They will recommend also that a plan be developed for moving the families.

They report that recently two fires in the Mill Creek area, one with fatal consequences, have occurred at the bottom of Connor's road.

There are no utilities in the area, and some of the buildings are quite a distance from a fire hydrant and fire alarm boxes.

The area was condemned for building many years ago, but the intervention of the depression prevented the cleaning out of squatters in the district.

ACTION PLUS, IN THIS CASE

Just two hours after the agency had placed an ad in the classified pages of The Bulletin advertising a four-room house for sale, he had a new owner prepared to take it over.

"I could have sold it a dozen times. That's real service," is the friendly word he passes along about Bulletin Want Ads.

Police Still Hunt Safecrackers Here

Police today are still searching for safecrackers who entered the Fuller and Knowles Plumbing Company shop at 10065 Whyte Avenue Thursday night and punched the safe.

The thieves made off with $41.45 in cash, 51 unemployment insurance stamps and 75 cents worth of postage stamps, it was revealed when further checks were made.

Only two pieces of evidence revealed by police were the punch left in the safe by the yeggs and a small piece of celluloid that had apparently been used to open the lock.

Russian People's Freedom Ended With Revolution

At the gate is the Pass Office. One enters into a room with four windows in a row and, sitting in front of each window are two M.V.D. officers.

At the nearest window I was asked for my name and military identity card.

I was also asked who I wanted to see and who had summoned me.

My replies were checked by the officer with the entries in a book which he was holding open in front of him.

My identity card was subjected to minute examination, first by one officer and then the other.

Both of them used a magnifying glass and scrutinised my identity card from all angles, testing the tissue of the paper, looking at it against the light, etc., etc.

After this my identity card, together with the book in which entries had been made by the first officer, was taken to another room.

A few minutes later the officer returned and started filling in the pass.

When this was done he took my identity card, his book and the pass to another room.

He returned after a few moments and handed me the book in which I had to sign for the pass. When this was done I was given my identity card and the pass inside it.

The pass is a slip of paper, criss-crossed by multi-colored lines, and the colors and pattern as well as the serial numbers are changed every day by the head of the Kremlin M.V.D. guard.

On leaving the office I went to the entrance for pedestrians alongside the main gate.

Before I reached it I was stopped by the M.V.D. officer who was walking up and down in front of the sentries and who asked me for my pass.

The pass and identity card were again scrutinised in the same way as in the Pass Office, minus the magnifying glass.

I was examined from head to foot, the photograph on my identity card was compared with my likeness, and I was finally let through.

Literally two paces further along I was stopped by the sentries who had watched the whole procedure, and again I had to exhibit my documents and pass.

I was let through, but the same procedure had to be gone through several times inside the wall itself.

Inside the great outer wall is a second wall, some 12 ft. high, which runs parallel to it and forms a kind of passage which one is obliged to follow in order to get to the main entrance to the Kremlin proper.

You enter a building which houses the Council of Ministers, but before you do this your papers are again scrutinized.

You walk down a few steps and come to a cloakroom. The M.V.D. guard who politely removes your overcoat, pats you expertly and lightly for any weapons, but this is done in such a way that you hardly notice it.

After removing your coat you walk up a few steps and come to a glass door, guarded by two sentries and M.V.D. officers.

Your papers are again examined, and you are finally let through the glass door, but the moment you step over the threshold you find yourself confronted by more guards and a high ranking M.V.D. officer.

Your papers are again examined, and for the first time since you have been spoken to in the Pass Office, the officer asks you in a half-whisper who you wish to see.

If the reply checks with the pass you are conducted to the "presence" by an M.V.D. officer.

INNER TEMPLE

You have at last penetrated to the Inner Temple.

This, then, is how one goes about getting into the Kremlin—by way of unending inspections, checks and re-checks, although all the details about the caller are known in advance to the Kremlin guards.

It would be a mistake to suppose that these precautions are intended to protect the Soviet "Leaders" from a possible act of vengeance.

The M.V.D. Kremlin guard is the custodian of all records.

Suppose a Minister or another of the Big Noises in the Kremlin should be arrested as "an enemy of the People."

The M.V.D. is able to produce at once a complete record of everybody whom the prisoner has seen, when he saw them, and for what avowed purpose.

All these people will be tracked down and questioned, and the automatic operation of this system explains the wave of arrests which invariably follows the fall of a high Soviet official.

PRINCES OF COMMUNISM

Yet thicker than the Kremlin's walls are the barriers of privilege and material advantage that today separate the leaders from the worker and peasant.

The country estates of Stalin, Kaganovich, and Voroshilov at Perkhushkovo, near Moscow, are far more sumptuous than anything I have seen in Germany or England.

They all have their private staff of retainers and flunkeys, but, instead of paying these people wages out of their private pockets they are charged to the State.

All trade in the Soviet Union is State controlled and, in theory, everybody receives according to his need.

Indeed, in the first days after the October Revolution there were the beginnings of a truly spartan society, in which the mighty did share the same fare as the ordinary citizen.

But since then ideological morality has been sapped to its very foundations.

The thirteen families and their retainers hunger for the treasures of Eastern Europe and Germany, brought within their grasp as war booty, and this has accelerated the process of corruption.

THEY GET RICHER

Today they get richer and the ordinary citizen continues to lead a semi-beggarly existence.

Having, myself, tasted the "Socialist" version of poverty, I can say that the cold is just as cold, and the hunger just as real in the "Socialist Paradise."

As an army officer, scientist, engineer, and an active party member, and with the additional assistance of a wife who worked as an engineer, I qualify for what might be called a privileged person of the "proletarian" State.

My wife and I, together, earned up to 6,000 roubles a month, as against the common worker's average of 600 to 700 roubles gross.

Yet even with this sum, after paying some 70 to 80 roubles for a 2½-room flat, 360 roubles for the State Loan, and various other obligatory contributions, we could only just about exist.

By contrast a friend of mine who became a deputy Minister entered a life of affluence.

It was not so much the increase in salary which made the difference as the perquisites available to the party potentates.

JEWELRY SCARCE

Buying all manner of things on a large scale, such a deputy has a wide knowledge of the distribution of items which are in chronic short supply.

The moment a good piece of jewelry appears the manager of the shop notifies the lieutenants of one or other of the Ministers, or some other State official.

A telephone call clinches the sale; the piece vanishes; the little man remains blissfully ignorant of the short cuts in the system of distribution.

The same system operates in food and furniture shops. Something good comes in from one of the satellite countries—the Ministry of Foreign Trade tips off someone in the Politburo, Central Committee or Ministry.

The stock answer is: "Fine, hold it until I arrive. My people will want that."

Their people always do. They want everything which is good or in short supply.

In the big cities there are super-special shops for the highest higher-ups; semi-special shops for the middle higher-ups and just special shops for the lower higher-ups.

Here, at special prices, are to be found food, clothing, and other items seldom, if ever, visible in the ordinary State stores.

Stalls in theatres, the best seats in the good restaurants, are reserved for Big Noises.

Even lavatories are set aside first for generals, next for officers, and last of all for the common soldier.

The class distinction which today divide the Soviet population are the most rigid and exclusive in modern society.

In the dictatorship of the proletariat everybody has some special status—everybody but the proletariat.

But the rulers are prudent. They keep the best things in life concealed behind closed doors and their luxurious living is not apparent to the common people; but it is not hidden from foreign visitors.

To the original loot from the Czars has been added the war booty of capitalistic Europe.

This material—furniture, paintings, objects d'art, tapestries, silverware—has gradually been distributed among the Soviet elite.

From hundreds of examples of luxurious living, I can quote from personal observation such people as Vasili Stalin, the son of the "leader of genius"; Serov, the Deputy Minister of the Interior, Lieut.-General Grachev, O.C. the Government Air Division for special Assignments, responsible for air transport of the higher "Leaders"; I. Ehrenburg, who prostitutes his writings in order to please the "Leaders" and has now become one of the richest men in the U.S.S.R.

STALIN RICHEST

I think that the richest man in the Soviet Union, if not the world, is undoubtedly Stalin himself.

As everyone knows, he has an apartment in the Kremlin, a beautiful country place outside Moscow and a palace on the Black Sea Coast.

The so-called "presents" which he received during the last 10 or 15 years from all corners of the Soviet Union must amount to a fantastic figure. But this is not all.

The "Questions of Leninism" and the so-called "Works of Stalin" of which millions of copies have been published all over the world, must bring him in colossal revenues.

All his speeches are published in millions of copies, both in the U.S.S.R. and abroad.

The "Short Course of History of the V.K.P. (b)" has also been published in practically all the languages of the world besides all the languages spoken in the U.S.S.R.

This latter work is purported to be by Stalin, although he can be called responsible only for 26 of its 340 pages. (This is a classic example of the plagarism legalized by the State).

I should very much like to know where the royalties from all these works have gone to. They must amount to unheard-of figures.

LOADED WITH BOOTY

For months after the end of the war the trains from Germany went back to Russia loaded not only with the parts of dismantled factories but with furniture, paintings, textiles. Never has there been such looting.

The Red Army was allowel to grab what they wanted—or rather, what was left after the advance agents of the 13 families had picked over the booty.

But to see the "proletarian" upper circles in their true colors there is nothing to equal a Kremlin reception. I have been to several—enough, at any rate, to arrive at two dismal conclusions:—

First: It has remained for Stalinism, with its deification of Stalin, to supply unintentionally the ultimate parody on the mechanics of leader-worship.

Two: In the People's State, all the good things flow only to the top.

Stalin never meets the common people. He is very seldom seen in public with strangers. At these receptions, he usually sits down with the same people—drawn from among his nearest and trustiest followers.

The occasion is usually a military review, always the May Parade and other important celebrations. Up to 1938 receptions were held in honor of graduates of military academies, at which Stalin was always present and even addressed his guests.

PRACTICE HALTED

This practice was discontinued after the Tukhachevski case.

Instructions are passed down to the Kremlin Komandatura, fixing the date and stipulating who should be invited.

In good time the nominated guests learn of their good fortune, not in the form of an invitation, but an order, not from the hosts but from the boss (Khozyain).

Only the wives of the very highest-of-the-high ever accompany their husbands to such receptions.

Soviet etiquette has abolished the pleasant custom that requires the hosts to stand and receive their guests, extending to each a polite though perhaps meaningless greeting.

The guests are told when to arrive, where to stand on arival, where to sit, and if they should happen to be part of the claque, they are further told what to say and when to say it.

It would never enter anyone's head either to be late or to leave before being told to do so.

These receptions are attended only by the Soviet elite: Politburo members, Ministers, marshals of the army and air force, admirals of the navy, high party officials, well-known scientists and a sprinkling of the party-political intellibentsia, etc.

Such people as the writers Ehrenburg, Tikhonov, Simonov, Ermashov, actors like Barsova and Mikhailov, Pospelov, the editor of Pravda, and others of that stamp are occassionally asked.

The military are always in full-dress uniform and their wives (if asked) present that contrast of dazzling splendor and frowsiness which characterizes the Soviet female high society.

As regards the volume of jewelry per square foot, I should say that it compares favorably with anything that can be seen elsewhere.

EVERYTHING PLANNED

Since everything in the U.S.S.R. is planned, it follows that even these receptions are directed down to the last detail by a specially appointed master-of-ceremonies.

He is usually a high party official in the Kremlin.

He is responsible for organizing the claque which is an indispensable part of the festive apparatus. He is not interested whether the guests enjoy themselves, and his only interest is to see to it that the speeches and ovations follow each other in the order which has been decided upon beforehand.

When all the guests are assembled in the banqueting hall (usually the Georgievski Hall in the Kremlin Palace), the master-of-ceremonies says in a loud and authoritative voice: "Comrades, please be seated."

All the food and wines are already on the tables and there is always plenty of good wines from the Crimea and Caucasus, caviare, game, and a variety of the famous Russian hors d'oevres (Zakuski).

TENSE EXPECTANCY

A tense expectancy pervades the room.

The door through which Stalin is to enter is left open and the master-of-ceremonies, knowing the appointed time of his entry, is eyeing it anxiously.

The moment Stalin appears he jumps up, which is a signal for everyone to follow suit, and either he, or someone previously appointed, calls out in a loud voice: 'Long live our Leader of genius and teacher, the father of the peoples, the sage, Comrade Stalin."

Stalin is usually dressed very simply, wearing the familiar coat buttoned up to the chin, without any decorations except perhaps the insignia of the Hero of Socialist Labor and Hero of the Soviet Union.

Along with the cheers, everybody claps as hard as he or she can and Stalin invariably joins in the applause.

The only exceptions are Stalin's bodyguards and the M.V.D. officers guarding all the exits.

Stalin sits down.

After the briefest hesitation, he rises and delivers a speech, always short, describing the purpose of the reception and commending its aspects to the attention of all Soviet citizens.

In just such circumstances he made his famous speeches on the following subjects: "Cadres are the main issue." (On the occasion of the graduation from the military academies). "Artillery is the God of War," "Thanks to the Great Russian People for their endurance and support of our Soviet Social Order" (in 1925).

STALIN TOAST

The instant he finishes, the Master of Ceremonies, or another previously appointed official, calls for a toast to the great Stalin, and the hall fairly shakes with the shouting and clapping, and no one claps more enthusiastically than Stalin himself.

The etiquette demands that the ovation should continue until Stalin holds up his hand and sits down, when everybody lifts his glass in unison.

What is known as the Georgievski Hall is really a number of adjoining halls, and at least one of the "Leaders" is placed in each one of them.

These people are carefully coached in what they are to do and what they are to say.

As if spontaneously, one of them will leap from his chair and cry: "Comrades, let us drink to the health of the wonderous Statesman, Comrade Stalin," or words to that effect.

Such outbursts result in noisy demonstrations and clapping which Stalin acknowledges by joining in the applause to himself.

When the ovation subsides it is immediately touched off afresh by someone else, who again proposes a toast to the "Wonderful organiser, administrator," or whatever the case may be.

All the drinks and food intended for Stalin's use will have been tasted beforehand, and the person sitting next to him (usually a Politburo member or high party official) will have been coached from which bottle and dishes Stalin is to be helped.

BODYGUARD WATCHES

None of the guests ever drinks unless Stalin does; the etiquette is inflexible on this point. When Stalin takes up his glass, all the people in the room reach for theirs. If he merely sits still, so do all the guests.

I should like not to leave the reader with the impression that these affairs are all alike.

If, for example, the reception is held in honor of the Academy of Science, new toasts to Stalin will be devised to harmonize with the occasion—"Long live our sage leader, the coryphaeus of science, the great Comrade Stalin."

If it should be in honor of some development in Soviet aviation, the slogan will be: "Long live the great friend of Soviet aviation, the father of Soviet aviation, the great air-minded Comrade Stalin."

Should it be held in honor of some Soviet writer, the slogan will be: "Our beloved cultural leader," and where military affairs supply the excuse, the cheers will be: "To the organiser of victory, the master strategist," etc.

I must in all honesty say that I have never heard Stalin actually hailed as the inventor of the airplane, the discoverer of the North Pole, the author of "Das Kapital," the builder of the first road or the inventor of the first wheel.

Nevertheless, on some occasions, his followers were but one shout away from such claims.

ALWAYS HEAD MAN

In any case, at all these receptions there is only one guest of honor and that is Stalin.

The scientist, engineer, military leader, or airman in whose honor the reception is arranged drop into oblivion after a modest interval of recognition.

Stalin rises and leaves the hall, while the guests stand up and cheer him to the door.

The guests continue eating and drinking for a short while, after which the Master-of-Ceremonies rises and says: "Comrades, the reception is over." The guests then depart.

Farm Resolutions Put Before Alta. Cabinet

Representatives of prairie governments and farm organizations are to meet the federal cabinet in Ottawa on Feb. 21 to discuss marketing of coarse grains.

Carl Stimpfle, president of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, said today Alberta government's action on a resolution presented to the cabinet on Friday by a delegation of Alberta farm leaders here would be delayed until after that conference.

Another request asked the government to provide more adequate compensation for farmers whose land has been drilled for oil. They suggest that not only should property damage be covered, but that an award be made for "general depreciation and loss of social and community values" and that they receive a five per cent royalty.

Payment of bounties on wolves and coyotes was asked in another request placed before the cabinet. Objection was taken to the government's action in stopping payment of bounties.

Other resolutions dealt with requests for increased assistance for roads within the province and for an airplane ambulance service.

Service Club Will Hear Professor

MONDAY—Kiwanis, Cosmopolitan.

THURSDAY—Lions, Rotary, Optimists.

Members of Edmonton Rotary Club will hear an address on "Experiments in Social Services" next Thursday at their regular luncheon in the Macdonald hotel.

Speaker will be A. S. R. Tweedie, of the department of extension at the University of Alberta. Chairman will be J. McGregor-Smith.

Representatives of CGIT and Tuxis groups will be guests at the luncheon.

Two other service clubs will have business meetings next week and programs of other clubs were not announced.

South Side Kiwanis members will hear reports from various committees on past activities and proposals at their noon luncheon Tuesday in King Edward hotel.

Cosmopolitan Club will also have a business meeting at their regular gathering in Trocadero Monday evening.

Program of Lions' Club luncheon Thursday at Macdonald is being arranged by Jack Weber and Ted Sacker and could not be announced until next week.

Programs for Gyro, Kiwanis, Optimists and Y's Men's clubs were not announced.

W. H. Pettigrew Heads YMCA

William H. Pettigrew, vice-president during the last year, was elected president of the Edmonton YMCA Friday at a meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. Pettigrew has been a member of the Edmonton Y for many years. He is a member of Edmonton Recreation Commission.

The new president succeeds Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, who has been head of the YMCA here for the last four years.

Toronto Newsies Fete Bulletin Executive

Special to The Bulletin

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—Thomas N. Dwan, assistant publisher of The Edmonton Bulletin was the recipient of a tribute unique in Toronto newspaper annals.

It is 16 years since Mr. Dwan resigned as circulation manager of the Toronto Telegram but time and distance have not dimmed his friendship with newsboys here. As proof of this the Toronto News Boys Association, comprising the grizzled veterans who operate the downtown corner newstands, honored him with a testimonial dinner and presentation of a pen and pencil set at the Prince George Hotel here.

The presentation was made by Meyer Bobkin, president of the Toronto Newsboys Association. Others who toasted the guest were Joseph M. Gould, counsel of the Newsboys. Van H. Fris, circulation director of the Telegram, Frank Taylor, city circulation manager of the Telegram, J. D. Shields, city circulation manager of the Globe and Mail, Tom Daly, veteran trainer of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey and baseball clubs, and Alex "Scotty" Lisner of the Telegram circulation department.

Stan Francis, well-known to Canadian radio audiences from coast to coast, was master of ceremonies for the entertainment program. Heading the host of old time newsboys who turned out to pay their respects to Dwan was Jimmy Murphy oldest newsboy in the city who has sold papers at King and Yonge streets for more than 60 years.

Manslaughter Charge Lifted

Charge of manslaughter against city taxi driver Fred J. Saruk, 9662 102A avenue, which was laid in connection with a Feb. 2 street accident has been withdrawn.

Saruk was arrested Thursday following the death in hospital Wednesday of 67-year-old John Mogard of Veteran.

Later Thursday, he was released on the condition that if the coroner's inquest found evidence of blame, the charge could be proceeded with.

Mogard was struck by an automobile alleged to have been driven by Saruk at 101 street and 104 avenue on the evening of Feb. 2.

The inquest which opened Thursday was adjourned until next Wednesday by Coroner Dr. M. M. Cantor after formal identification of the body.

Accident occurred, according to police reports, as Mogard was crossing 101 street from the west to the east curb. Te suffered a fractured leg and head injuries.

Sentiment Returning On Valentine Cards

It isn't the price tag, it's the sentiment—and from coast to coast you can buy valentine sentiment for as little as five cents as a remembrance token for Monday.

In Edmonton the new trend is for adults to buy cards for children and the children's teachers. Valentine cut-out books have appeared here also.

For those who splurge on frills and red satin for the girl of their dreams, the ticket may run as high as $2.50. Nevertheless, a cross-Canada survey by the Canadian Press reveals that sentiment is back in style.

As usual there are humorous, light-hearted cards for the timid soul, bashful about going on record with "I love you truly, be my valentine." And the boisterous extrovert can still buy a card carrying a practical joke.

But the return of sentimentality has practically banished the sour, sarcastic card—the penny lemon that junior used to slip, unsigned, on the teacher's desk. Gone too are the tricky, mechanical gadgets, the pasteboard dog with rolling eyes and wagging tail.

Cards are selling well. Both oldsters and the younger generation are crowding stores to buy remembrance for friends and sweethearts and, indcidentally to pay annual tribute to benevolent St. Valentine, whom legend credits with starting the practice.

Flowers, candy and gifts also enter the picture. Ottawa reports a rush for heart-shaped boxes of chocolates. Violets are hard to get in Montreal, but interest in Saint John, N.B., is high in spring flowers, red roses and carnations.

Variations of the traditional idea are springing up in various areas.

The personal touch is provided by Ottawa and Winnipeg stores selling material so that individuals can make their own cards.

Torontonians like buying special cards addressed to each member of the family and even second-removed relatives. Card manufacturers also report that there is plenty of demand for almost foot-square $1 cards.

New Hotel Setup Ready to Start

Final Negotiations Completed With Civic Officials Here

Everything is "all set" for construction of Edmonton's new $7,500,000 hotel.

Mr. Boright talked taxes and assessments with city commissioners at the Civic Block Friday and had an informal chat with officials of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

SET TO GO

As to the conference with civic officials, he said: "Everything has been smoothed out. The hotel is all set to go."

He planned to return to Edmonton in six weeks, at which time it is hoped to start excavation for the hotel at 102A avenue and 100 street.

Several agreements must be signed with Boright's partners in Glenton Development Co. in the east.

Minor Crimes Are Reported

Mrs. J. Ferris of High Prairie a visitor in the city, complained to police that her purse containing $19 in cash and a gold bracelet were taken from her hotel room while she was visiting a friend.

Report that her house had been the target for an alleged thief during the last few days came from A. R. Pfeifer, 9642 103 avenue. She told police that there has been evidence of attempted break-ins at her home while she is away at work and Friday part of the door handle had been removed in an attempt to gain entry.

The Sovereign Life Assurance Company of Canada

The annual banquet of the Northern Alberta Branch of the Sovereign Life Assurance Company was held in the Macdonald Hotel on Friday, February 4th. Mr. C. L. Olsen, Branch Manager, presided and Mr. D. H. Bule, the Company's Southern Alberta Branch Manager, was the guest of honor for the occasion.

In congratulating the agents and office staff on the excellent results of the past year, Mr. Olsen stressed the importance of maintaining the Company's reputation for service to policyholders. He impressed upon the new agents present, the very great advantage to them personally and to their profession that they should be enthusiastic members of the Canadian Life Underwriters Association, and then dealt with the purpose and importance of the National Quality Award. As an encouragement to agents, the Branch gives a special bonus of $50.00 to those qualifying for the National Quality Award, and while several qualified during 1948, Mr. Olsen expressed the hope that all agents would strive to win this recognition during the coming year.

Please, No Masquerade

The Alberta minister of agriculture has told the Alberta Dairymen's Association in Calgary that in his opinion margarine should not be the same color as butter.

This opinion is the opinion of thousands of consumers.

As The Edmonton Bulletin pointed out some days ago, margarine is margarine and butter is butter and the only iniquity in the sale of the former lies in attempts to make the one masquerade as the other.

In other words, margarine is not a butter substitute. It is, so far as Canada is concerned, an entirely new food with virtues and qualities of its own.

It is true that margarine can be made to do some of the things ordinarily done by butter. But it is not a substitute for butter because butter holds an entirely unique place in cookery and on the table that margarine cannot fill.

But if the price of margarine continues to be appreciably lower than the price of butter, efforts are bound to be made to ring in the former for the latter.

In some restaurants and over some counters, margarine will be passed off as the dairy product.

Laws against that sort of thing can be as strict as possible without much avail unless some physical difference is made necessary to plainly distinguish the one from the other.

Color is the obvious mark of distinction.

Some resentful dairy organizations in the East have advocated a deep green or a violent red for margarine, obviously in the hope of making the product unpalatable in point of appearance.

There is no need for such extreme action.

But surely some shade could be found that would be at once attractive and distinctive.

It is only fair that the distinction should be made obvious.

It's War Against Religion

Lest anyone should think that Communist animosity was levelled exclusively against the Roman Catholic Church, the Soviet-dominated government of Bulgaria has announced that it will shortly try 15 non-Roman clergy on charges of treason and spying.

It is clear, then, that both the Mindszenty case in Hungary and the new cases in Bulgaria are part of a general drive to abolish religion of all kinds behind the iron curtain.

There is nothing new and there should be nothing startling about this conclusion.

But, more than that, the very fundamental doctrines of Communism are so blatantly and flagrantly materialistic that they leave no room for any spiritual conceptions.

It would be most unwise to cherish any hope that the Soviet empire will be satisfied with anything less than the complete abolition of religion.

Church Emphasis on Calvary

Tomorrow is what is known in the Church year as "Septuagesima Sunday."

It was so called originally because it was approximately 70 days before Easter. Actually it is only 63 days before Easter. But the error or change in calculation that brings about this discrepancy is not important in relation to the significance of its celebration.

And that significance is, of course, the tremendous and fitting emphasis placed by the Church on the Crucifixion and Resurrection of our Lord.

That emphasis is implied in the fact that 63 days before the consummation of Holy Week, the Church commences the studies and teachings that lead up to it.

This long period of preparation for Calvary and the rock tomb in the garden is eminently appropriate because, just as everything in the life of Christ led directly and even precipitately to His death on the Cross, so does all the doctrine of the Church come to fruition and triumph in the facts of the Crucifixion and Resurrection.

Even Christmas, one of the greatest feasts of the Church year, takes second place to Good Friday and Easter because Christ's birth was only a prelude to His death.

He was born to die for the sins of the world and for the salvation of men.

Even His birth, then, was only a miraculous means to a more miraculous end.

Because the Crucifixion and the Resurrection are preeminently the central facts of the Christian Faith, the Christian is taught to approach those facts with due spiritual preparation and with an enlightened understanding that places those facts in proper relation to all other historical and spiritual facts.

The Septuagesima, Sexagesima and Quinquagesima Sundays are preparations for Lent just as Lent is the preparation for our Lord's divine sacrifice on the Cross.

The need for these periods of preparation cannot be overstressed.

For to pick the great festivals of the Church out of thin air, like cards out of a pack, is to lose half their meaning and most of their significance.

The tempo and atmosphere of Good Friday are not the tempo and atmosphere of Christmas. There must be a gradual transition. There must be an intelligent transition.

ON THE RECORD

Tragedy of Mindszenty Is Tragedy of Becket

THOMPSON

The drama of Cardinal Mindszenty already has been written by a great poet (1948 Nobel prize winner), T. S. Eliot, bringing his powerful imagination to bear upon an event remote in time: The murder of Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury after a "popular" trial by loyal knights of King Henry 11.

Without making all-embracing parallels, the issue then was the same as now.

The king (the state), who had bestowed upon the great archbishop many favors, broke with him because of Becket's refusal to accept the authority of the state over matters spiritual, where his allegiance was to the Holy See.

Becket went abroad, and the state would have liked nothing better than that he remain abroad and not return to force, by his presence, the issue.

Loved By People

Becket, an austere ascetic, once had been a worldly man, loving luxurious refinements, the fascinating intrigues of politics, temporal power.

And although he was adored by the people of Canterbury, whose hearts were with him, they by no means welcomed his return, for, as the chorus of the women of Canterbury reveal in their chants, they feared, above all, further oppressions of the state that might fall upon them from his stand.

They were not heroes, as presented by the four tempters in the most powerful scenes of Eliot's drama.

They first appealed to his old love of luxury and privilege, to be bought by mere silence: "Be easy man! The easy man lives to eat the best dinners."

The second appealed to his ancient love of power.

Give up, the tempter urged, this "priestly pretension." Join the forces of the state. Disavow the authority of the Holy See. "Real power is purchased at price of certain submission; your spiritual power is earthy petition. Power is present for him who will yield."

The third appealed to revolution. "Join the people with the aid of outside powers to overthrow the state."

The fourth tempter offered the sweetest temptation of all: Deliberately to court martyrdom in order to wear a crown of glory far above all earthly grandeur—the subtlest of all temptations to the pride of a believer.

But he saw the sin of this temptation—deliberately to connive at his own death.

Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, "renegade to the king" rejected them all. And it would seem the Hungarian cardinal met and rejected the same temptations.

But Becket's reward was the martyrdom he eschewed—followed by a tremendous revulsion of the people, his eventual canonization—his tomb a pilgrimage to this day.

Beyond Politics

The Hungarian government has involved itself in a deed beyond the transiencies of earthly politics; beyond the judgments of contemporary time.

The "guilt" of Cardinal Mindszenty is guilt in the framework of the principles of the Communist state.

He denies the all-embracing total powers of that state, and all the rest of the charges are rationalizations.

It is on this issue that he really is being tried before a "popular tribunal," and on this issue that he will be condemned.

He himself forced the issue.

The state infinitely would have preferred to avoid it—gradually to push the church into a position of impotence, into an existence neither living nor dead, subsisting on perpetual sufferance. And this may happen, too.

Of death, with which they may not favor him, he has no fear.

Smiles

It seems to me a thing extremely curious
That people who would certainly be furious
If haply they discovered waste unchecked
By which their homes or businesses were wrecked,
And who would then take steps, beyond a doubt,
To spot the culprit and to leave him out,
Are too preoccupied with other cares
To think about municipal affairs.
Yet it is oft the men who make the rate
Who have control of our industrial fate;
For, as each mammoth spending scheme enlarges,
Trade is weighed down with still increasing charges
Until, our foreign rivals growing stronger,
We feel, alas! we can complete no longer.
The work are closed. The workers, sad to tell,
Are forced to go upon relief as well
(Since men, though out of work, must surely eat),
And thus the vicious circle is complete.
But though alike employer and employed,
Must suffer more or less an aching void,
How many take the trouble to record
The vote, which in their hands is as a sword
To cut down waste and drive without the pale
The cranks who feed the dog upon his tail?
The Socialists, as it appears to me,

Attempt Is Naive

Editor, Bulletin—By report some type of civilian peace council is being organized shortly in Moose Temple by a Dr. Endicott.

What ordinary people can do about preventing war is to be considered.

The move seems to be naive in the light that Canadians are now being taxed to spend over $1,000,000 daily for purposes of building up armaments.

Transfer System

Editor, Bulletin.—I noticed in your paper of the 7th inst. that 555 bicycle licenses were issued last year. I wonder how many will be issued this year if the price of car tickets is raised to three for 25c, 5,000?

The safer idea would be to issue six tickets for 25c and do away with the transfers.

The transfer system is so badly abused that I am certain if this was done there would be no more deficits irrespective of the views of the so-called "efficiency experts" who, in lots of cases, do more harm than good.

Lien on Their Citizenship?

Editor, Bulletin—The government having now committed the Dominion to the recognition of a de facto State of Israel, it would appear the same question arises as did in the mind of Jacob H. Schiff in a letter to Professor Solomon Schechter of the Jewish Theological Seminary:

"Speaking as an American I can not for a moment concede that one can be at the same time a true American and an honest adherent of the Zionist Movement. They who believe and hope and labor for an ultimate restoration of the Jewish political life and re-establishment of the Jewish nation place a prior lien upon their citizenship which . . . would prevent them from maintaining allegiance to the country of which they now claim to be good citizens . . ."

Zionists Not Communist

Editor, Bulletin.—Mr. Crowley in reply to my recent letter, gives it an interpretation of his own choosing.

If I were a member of a great spiritual force, threatened, as Mr. Crowley states, by a plot on the part of a minority people, my defense would not be the aping of Hitler's hysteria.

Rather, it would be an arsenal of strength, and the richness of its blessings, would inspire me to more than the ridiculous tripe he mouths.

No doubt it is Mr. Crowley's contention that all Zionists are Communists.

I refer him to the recent election in Israel, where less than 3 percent of the vote polled were Communist votes, and half of these votes were from Arab election districts such as Haifa and in the villages around Nazareth.

Christmas Seals

Editor, Bulletin. — Another Christmas Seal campaign is nearing its close. We have exceeded our provincial objective by a few thousand dollars, and we wish to extend to you, to your staff and to your readers the sincere thanks of the members and directors of this association.

Our anti-tuberculosis program embraces preventive education, that is, education of the public that tends to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. It embraces what we call case-finding, through clinics, surveys and other measures, such as routine chest X-rays of hospital admissions. Christmas Seal dollars also provide occupational therapy for patients in the sanatoria, and vocational training and rehabilitation of patients in the sanatoria, and also for patients who have been discharged.

It is most pleasing to us to record that in the last five years the number of individual contributions to the anti-tuberculosis cause in Alberta has increased from about 14,000 to nearly 75,000 during this past campaign. This is an indication to us that the people of Alberta are being made more and more acquainted with the need for strong public support of the voluntary association, which works with and supplements the work of the official agencies, such as the provincial and federal departments of health.

Mixed Drinking

Editor, Bulletin.—Why can't we married people drink with our wives in Edmonton city beer parlors when we can go eight miles out and drink with somebody else's wife?

Is this justice to the people of Edmonton? We pay for our beer. We buy permits and everything else, but there must be a door between us.

We should go to Russia where they tell you what to do where and when.

We are living today not yesterday or a hundred years ago. Let's keep up with time. Let's get away from the iron curtain.

Standards of Rent Control

Editor, Bulletin.—This is in answer to B. D. D.'s letter of February 3rd, re control standards.

For approximately 5 years I have tried to find out on what basis the control board arrived at their so-called "fixations."

During those 5 years I have gone $1,000 in the red for such things as radiants and repairs. When I make application for an increase in rent for increased facilities and gas the application is "dismissed," but tenants can come into my home, pay no regard to the law re-payment of rent, notice of removal, etc., and seem to think it is their privilege to run any bills for heat, light and water in my name, by bringing twice their number to stay by the month.

For how much longer are landlords to be subjected to this vile dictatorship?

I have heard for several years of things like B. D. D. writes of in his letter, but I have met with quite the opposite, as well as abuse from tenants.

Driver Not To Blame

Editor, Bulletin.—With reference to the "Indignant Highland Resident" attempting to belittle the courtesy of our Edmonton Transit System employes:

This young school girl in question, showed the most uncourteous, selfish and stubborn manner I have ever seen displayed in Edmonton. She was definitely in the wrong and surely didn't expect to be treated with any degree of courtesy.

There was no force used upon this girl to leave the bus. She was told to leave or pay the proper fare. The bus was delayed several minutes, due to this girl's stubbornness, even after the kind-hearted passenger gave her a ticket. She chose to display her ignorance and delay the rest of the passengers. This act in itself proved she had no regard for others being delayed, leave alone the bus driver and inspector, so the law had to be called in to make her drop the "free" ticket.

As for the trolley being pulled, putting the lights out, this was likely done to allow other buses to pass, rather than delay all east-bound buses on account of a teen-ager trying to have her own way.

I might add, if she had not bought the bag of pop-corn she would have had the required fare without chiselling on the ETS.

Worse Fate

Their Own Enemy

Editor, Bulletin.—For hundreds of years Britain has been a refuge for Jews, and a land of opportunity. Jews have been made prime ministers, ambassadors, and members of the House of Lords.

Recently in return Jews have murdered British soldiers, shot down British planes, and assassinated Bernadotte, one of the world's finest men.

It can not be surprising if even tolerant, patient Britain should resent such base ingratitude.

The most dangerous enemies of Jewry are men of Jewish blood such as Ben Hecht. He is not striving to promote peace, tolerance, kindness, love and good-will.

Newspaper Pictures

One wonders, after seeing the front page publicity given to such pictures as that in your Feb. 3 edition of the grief-stricken Mr. and Mrs. Koziak—and on Feb. 4 of a badly wounded David Rollins of Oklahoma.

Surely good taste alone should prohibit photographers from showing such complete lack of consideration for the feelings of their subjects.

Income Tax Injustices

Editor, Bulletin.—We are truly in a democratic country when most newspapers will give a section of their paper to public correspondents. Here we get a variety of opinions.

I am having quite a time with my 1946 income tax returns. This was sent in on time and I heard nothing of it until last fall when I was notified that I owed them $366.34. They base this on the fact that my inventory was $1,107.77 more at the end of the year.

I drew their attention to the fact that my bank account was $1,222.31 less at the end of the year, this amount going into stock.

My point is that a person can have money in the bank without being taxed for it. But let him put this money into stock and he is taxed for being ambitious.

Income should be on what a fellow actually makes. Taking $10 out of one pocket and putting it into another is not making profit or income.

Detects Certain Curious Elements In Arrest Of Carr

The strange circumstances surrounding the "arrest" of Sam Carr, key absentee in the Ottawa spy case are as they would say in Alice in Wonderland, "curioser and curioser."

Truth is surely stranger than fiction.

Here we thought the secret police of the whole world were on the job night and day to get this missing person.

There was not a nook or corner where the missing Mr. Carr's picture had not been plastered up on notice boards under a prominent heading. "Wanted."

And finally he had to tell the New York cops that he was the Sam Carr in order to get them to condescend to arrest him!

Adds To Mystery

According to the evidence given by Gouzenko, Sam Carr was the "king pin" in the whole alleged spy network in Canada.

The RCMP had several months to prepare to spring the trap upon him, as well as on the less important suspects.

Yet when the time came, it was the two dozen little fish who found themselves in the net. Carr—the big fellow—got clean away.

Now that could only mean:

1. That somebody "in the know" had given Carr the tip-off to make his getaway, or,

2. That the accused had agents within the ranks of the RCMP itself and so got advance knowledge of moves to be made by the RCMP.

The only one sure thing is that Carr got away and, for all anybody knows to the contrary, would have remained away forever but for the bizarre "accident" which resulted in his arrest.

Mr. Harry Thornton is a veteran newspaperman of Vancouver who established an export and import business with Mexico in 1947.

In mid-March of that year he was visiting the City of Guadalarja. A retired U.S. official, liv-there on pension, asked him (Thornton) if he knew anything about Noranda gold mine shares. It turned out that another temporary resident was trying to sell Noranda shares to this official, for considerably less than their market value.

The stranger in possession of the Noranda shares was in the habit of dropping in to the waiting room of the Pan-American Airways to read the U.S. newspapers, which came in daily.

Mr. Thornton visited the waiting room for several successive days and became absolutely convinced that the mysterious stranger was the famous missing Sam Carr.

When the story broke in Canadian newspapers, the Commissioner of the RCMP made a statement in Ottawa implying that Carr was where Mr. Thornton had seen him.

The inference was that the RCMP knew where Carr was, but were unable to do anything about it, as no extradition from Mexico to Canada is possible under existing law.

Why Did He Return?

Mr. Harry Thornton knows Carr by sight, having seen him in person while covering public meetings addressed by Carr.

It seems hardly likely that he could be mistaken.

Why, then did Carr return to New York, where FBI agents are so numerous as to make up a small-sized army?

And why did a man who had spent his whole adult life in the spy-and-counter-spy atmosphere of the professional revolutionary finally make such a move?

To me, the timing of this event seems to cap the climax of the whole bizarre Canadian spy case.

Construction of a pipe line east from Turner Valley oil fields to the head of the Great Lakes will "probably" start this year, R. A. Brown, head of the Brown Oil Corporation of Calgary said today.

Investigation of the "efficiency and methods" of Edmonton police will be asked by a local alderman at tonight's city council meeting.

From Today's News

By Dewitt Mackenzie

The foreign office in London yesterday charged that the Communist governments of Eastern Europe have launched a concerted assault on churches in order to wipe out ideological opposition.

This sweeping assertion was made in connection with the indictment of 15 leaders of the United Evangelical Church in Bulgaria on charges of spying. Simultaneously State Secretary Acheson in Washington also denounced the action by the Communist Bulgarian government.

Only a few days ago both Britain and the United States' hotly condemned the Hungarian government's trial of Cardinal Mindszenty on charges of treason. Acheson linked this trial with the earlier Hungarian "persecution" of Lutheran Bishop Lajos Ordass and declared:

"The Soviet-controlled Hungarian authorities seek to discredit and coerce religious leadership in Hungary in order to remove this source of moral resistance to Communism."

Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of the Church of England, commenting on the cases of Cardinal Mindszenty and Bishop Ordass, made this searching comment:

"We are witnessing a deadly struggle between the Christian Faith and the Christian Church on the one side, and on the other a Communism which will not tolerate any form of Christian Church unless it be subservient to itself."

So we could go on quoting from distinguished sources, but the purport would be the same:

Our column long has been calling attention to this phase of the Red world revolution. We venture to emphasize the threat again, since it is one of the most dangerous aspects of the Communist assault on free men.

The Communists are impelled by the knowledge that no religious person could be persuaded to join in the Red assault on human rights. Hitler pursued the same scheme of trying to kill religion in Germany because he realized that religious people wouldn't follow him in his efforts to enslave Europe.

Of course religion can't be destroyed. Only yesterday I expressed the view that "good ideas can't be killed." notice that I said "good" ideas Bad ideas die of their own cussedness in time.

Trivia

It belongs to the first degree of ingratitude to return evil for good, to the second to find fault with the favor received, and to the third to esteem kindness as though it were unkindness.

—Aquinas.

A poor man certainly is not ungrateful if he does what he can. For since kindness depends on the heart rather than on the deed, so too gratitude depends chiefly on the heart.

—Aquinas.

A slender acquaintance with the world must convince every man that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Honesty

Newspaper editors have a fondness for stories indicating that honesty is far from being a lost virtue. The taxi-driver turning over to the police a diamond necklace left in his cab by a forgetful patron gets his due measure of recognition. So does the poorly-paid clerk who brings in a fat wallet found in the subway.

Great events may be taking shape in the world, but editors can always find space for such human interest items. All the world loves an honest man.

It is often argued that nobody is 100 per cent honest—saints excepted. Rare may be the man who will not pocket the stray coin that drops from a telephone slot, or cut a few corners on income tax day. But while there seems to be a somewhat general laxity in resisting the Venial sins of dishonesty, the average man and woman seem to be honest enough when a real challenge to conscience arises.

Not long ago a man in Nyack, N.Y., lost a roll of bills amounting to $70 which was promptly scattered by a brisk wind.

None too hopefully, the man reported his loss to the police. Picture his astonishment when the desk sergeant informed him that a local tradesman had already turned in $35 he found near his store. Astonishment turned to real amazement when, within a couple of hours, other residents turned up with $10 and $5 bills, until, finally, every dollar of the $70 had been restored.

Overcome by this demonstration of local integrity, the man was quoted as calling his community "the most honest in the world." But one is reluctant to think that, whatever high praise Nyack's citizens may deserve, they are quite so exceptional.

Put to the test, the ordinary man or woman would probably show a degree of honesty that might surprise cynics who have yet to learn that people in general, while they may have many chinks in their moral armor, are fundamentally as honest as they are decent. By all means give the conscientious finders of lost property their due, but think of them primarily as doing only what most of us would do.

COME TO CHURCH THIS SUNDAY

London Visitor Will Address Bible Group

Rev. L. W. Schnell, B.A., B.D. who visited the annual meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society in London, England, last May will address the annual meeting of the North Alberta Auxiliary at 8 p.m. on Tuesday February 15 in First Baptist Church.

Mr. Schnell is the District Secretary for the North Saskatchewan Auxiliary. During his visit to England he had the privilege to visit several sessions of the Council of United Bible Societies. This Council, representing all the major Bible Societies, make Bible Society work throughout the world a unified effort.

This Council possesses full information on world Scripture needs and sources of supply and is thus in a position to guide and direct the activities of its various members. Mr. Schnell will have some first hand information about this Council.

Mayor Ainlay has accepted an invitation to attend this meeting and will bring greetings from the city.

Mrs. W. J. Melrose, vice-president of the Auxiliary Board of Directors will preside in the absence of the president, Mr. K. W. Reikie.

The choir of First Baptist Church will sing an anthem and Miss Elizabeth Dewar will sing a solo. Mrs. F. Barber Smith will be at the organ.

Various items of business will be dealt with including the presentation of the Report of the Nominating Committee. This committee nominates the members of the Board of Directors. However, before this slate is voted on, opportunity will be given for nominations from the meeting itself.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who wish to attend.

Theologians Study Cars

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 12. — Car trouble on the Canadian prairies holds no fears for the present class of St. Chad's Anglican theological college here.

For the past two months the student ministers have been engaged in the first automotive course ever taken by Anglican theologians in Canada. The eight students, ranging in age from 19 to 37, spent two evenings a week at Balfour Technical school here, learning what makes a car engine tick.

Purpose of the course is to enable ministers trained at St. Chad's to carry out their duties in the Qu'Appelle diocese, a vast area extending from the international border on the south to Watrous, about 150 miles north of the boundary, and stretching east and west from the Manitoba border to Medicine Hat, Alberta.

The size of the diocese not only makes a car necessary but also demands a knowledge of the car's workings, for service stations are few and far between on the lonely prairie.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, Saturday, Feb. 12, 1949

Are Bowlers People?... They Can't Be... They Have Too Much Fun...

WITH A PRAYER on his lips (or is this the way a feller proposes to his girl?) is George Hoyes, prominent member of the local 568 maple union. You get this way when you are shooting for the 12th strike that goes to make a perfect 450 game.

FULL OF CONFIDENCE before letting fling is Mamie McNabb, Edmonton Five-Pin Bowling Association secretary. If it's a strike everything is fine with the world. But, oh brother, if it should happen to turn up a split.

Flyers Rope Stamps 3-2

No Rough Stuff as Teams Carry on in Brisk Fashion

By Stan Moher
Bulletin Sports Editor

It may have been the reported presence in the icehouse of league president D. P. McDonald. On the other hand it could be that Flyers and Calgary Stampeders are just as tired as are the customers of all the bickering and rough stuff that have fouled up so many Western Canada Hockey league tilts of late.

In any event Flyers stopped the fast-moving Cowboys at the Arena Friday by a 3-2 count. And wonderfully, unbelievably, not a uenalty was dished out over the entire 60 minutes by referees 'Davie' Davidson and Bob Marshall.

Not that the pucksters played it in out-and-out 'after-you-my dear-Alphonse' style by any means. There was some innocuous boarding, hooking and holding indulged in and the beef-trusts patrolling the blue strips at either end carried on in fairly brisk fashion, if you can overlook the fact that the Calgary rearguard disdained to hand out more than two or three solid body-checks from start to finish.

HOCKEY FOR A CHANGE

But the emphasis generally was on hockey for a change and the teams served up a razzle-dazzle, free-wheeling exhibition that went a long way toward restoring fan confidence in WCHL attractions.

At either end netminders Keith Woodall, Flyers, and Russ Dertell, earned three-star rating with spectacular performances. Woodall turned in positively his best effort of the season to date before the folks who keep on packing the local Arena game after game.

The goalie who got his prep training with Kitchener—Waterloo Dutchmen of the OHA rose to giddy heights to hold off Dunc Grant when the top point-getter in the circuit got a clean breakaway in the second period. Woodall waited calmly, went into a sprawl at just the right moment, wonud up with the puck secure in his possession.

There were other places along the way where he likewise crashed the spotlight in no uncertain fashion, particularly in the final period when the aroused Stamps threatened for a time to chase the Flyers right out of the league.

RIMSTAD ET AL

Sharing top billing with Woodall in the Flyer camp was the Morey Rimstad-Bill Maher-Colin Kilburn attacking trio. Apparently unimpressed by all the recent legislation aimed at illegal combines and the like Rimstad and his linemates contrived to 'hog' scoring honors for the winners.

Maher, another who turned in close to his best showing this term, fired a pair of counters that had a Flyer label attached to them. Rimstad got the other, this one proving to be the winner in the long run. Kilburn figured in all three markers as he turned in a steady effort.

Maher's first counter came at 14.07 of the opening period as Flyers drew up along side Stamps, who had gone off in front on 'Red' Hunter's goal, off a pass from Stan Devicq, in the sixth minute of play.

It took the Rimstad line just 44 seconds of middle period action to bust the game 'wide open'. Maher fired one into an open net at 4.08. Rimstad came back at 4.52 to make it 3-1.

Then and there Flyers shelved their 'scoring' sticks for the night. Stampeders, making their first appearance under Marty Burke, began to come like the wind. They completely dominated the third staza, with Bob Brownridge netting their second goal on a play that started when big Denny Huddleston fired a long drive that Woodall blocked, only to have 'Butch' McDonald retrieve the rebound and lay down a short payoff pass to the speeding Brownridge.

There was no further scoring, with Woodall fending off numerous Clagary attacks.

Hunter, a fine puckster no matter how you look at him, Brownridge, Devicq, Bud Emery, 'Bunny' Dame and McDonald showed best for the visitors. Dunc (Ulysses) Grant went indifferently, possibly because he was breaking in a new pair of blades.

LINE-UPS:

Calgary—Dertell; Huddleston, Millman; McDonald; Culley, Brownridge. Subs: Emery, Dame, Wilder, Hunter, Grant, Scott, Devico, Milliard.

Officials— D. Davidson, Regina, Bob Marshall, Vulcan, Alta.

SUMMARY:

First period:—Calgary, Hunter (Devicq) 5:04;—Edmonton, Maher (Kilburn) 14:07. Penalities—None.

Second period:—Edmonton, Maher (Kilburn, Rimstad) 4:08;—Edmonton, Rimstad (Kilburn, Maher) 4:56. Penalties—None.

Third period:—Calgary, Brownridge (McDonald, Huddleston) 8:25 Penalties—None.

Meltons Subdue Cloverdale 8-4

Lloyd Spooner turned the hat trick while pacing Meltons to an 8-4 victory over Cloverdale Friday in the second round of the Northern Alberta Intermediate Hockey playdowns. The teams mixed it at Varsity rink in what was the first of a two-game, total-goals-to-count series.

'Bowlers' Are The 'Cwaziest' People

by Jim Algeo

If Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, the Holiywood comedy team, should ever run out of facial expressions to go with their seemingly endless supply of gags, a visit to the Recreation bowling academy would put them back in business till doomsday.

For when the five-pin addicts take to the alleys there's every kind of face from Frankenstein about to put the squeeze on some beautiful doll's throat to Bob Hope doing a somewhat similar act to Dorothy Lamour's upper vertebra.

RARE STYLES

Many and varied are the styles used by trundlers all over the country, but the Rec bowler seems to have a monopoly on the rare and humorous delivery.

Take f'rinstance the guy who almost fell flat on his face the other night. His is a unique style, to say the least. First he takes on like Bob Feller about to let go with his fast one. An innocent bystander no sooner reaches for the peanuts (one gets the baseball atmosphere, you see) than our bowler crosses him up by going into another wind-up.

This delivery is strikingly similar to one of many routines used with success by dancer Fred Astaire. By this time the crowd has a tendency to eye their partners for the next dance, expecting the band to 'strike up' at any time.

But it's the last stage that 'gets' the observer, who now begins to wonder if perhaps he's in the wrong building. With the last effort the bowler gives the impression that at any moment he will fall flat on his face, or better still, accompany the ball on its unpredictable journey.

He never does, though, darn it!

SAY YES, DEAR!

And he isn't the only maple-spreader who screws himself into a gadget used frequently to open corks on chilly nights. There's the guy who gives the impression that he is about to 'pop' the question—down on his knees and all—everytime he lets fling.

Yet another type stamps his foot on the woodwork as though the pounding will frighten the pins out of their sockets. Then comes the tongue wagger (he tucks his tongue into a cheek, makes with the funny faces and sometimes even comes up with a naughty word or two.)

All of which brings up the question: Are bowlers people? In our estimation they can't be. Trundlers at the Rec have too much fun.

Bang, Bang! And Lights Go Out for Both

BAYREUIH, Bavaria, Feb. 12 (Reuters)—Two German light heavyweight boxers knocked each other out in a contest here.

Peter Clages of Dusseldorf and Mathias Wagner of Munich each landed a hard punch to the other's Jaw at the same moment. Both men slumped to the canvas and were counted out.

Junior Curtain Drops Tonight

Curtain comes down on the regular City Junior Hockey league season at the Arena Saturday night. Order of finish already is set.

First-place Maple Leafs will tangle with the third-spot South Side in the opener at 8 o'clock while the runner-up EAC outfit clashes with the basement-dwelling Canadians in the nightcap.

Bruins Get Help

HERSHEY, PA., Feb. 12—(AP) Hershey Bears of the AHL announced Friday Ed Kryzanowski, Topper Toppazzini and Dave Creighton have been sent to Boston Bruins of the National league.

STAN MAXWELL
... In good form.

BILL BOORMAN

Lethbridge Thumps Saskatoon By 8-1

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Lethbridge's fighting Maple Leafs took over sole possession of third place in the Western Canada Hockey league standings Friday night by walloping the last-place Saskatoon Quakers 8-1.

Victory for the Leafs, coupled with a 3-2 loss at Edmonton by Calgary Stampeders, gave the home team a one-point advantage over the Stamps.

Stan Maxwell set the pace for the Lethbridge sharpshooters with three goals. Singletons were credited to Bill Gibson, Ken Simpson, Bill Boorman, Grant Hall and Roy Heximer. Lone Saskatoon tally came from the stick of Bill Johnson. Boorman also picked up four assists.

Lethbridge held a 2-0 advantage at the end of first-period play, increased their lead to 4-1 at the end of the middle frame and completed the rout in the finale with four unanswered markers.

City Rinks Clean Up At Red Deer 'Spiel

RED DEER, Feb. 12.—Edmonton rinks carried off top honors in three of the competitions at the Red Deer ladies' bonspiel here on Friday with a capital city quartet also in the final of the fourth event, to be played Saturday morning.

Mrs. Earl Garlough, Alberta Avenue club Edmonton, came through with a thrilling 13 end victory over Mrs. Bill Bull, Granite Club, Edmonton, to cop the final of the Humber Jewellery, (Grand Challenge), Mrs. Walter Jamieson, Red Deer, placed first in the Builders' Hardware, the second primary, Mrs. Bert Robertson, Edmonton, won the final of the Meeres-Hicks Electric, secondary to Builders. Mrs. Robertson was also in the final of the Sims Furniture, first of the secondaries.

In the Humber Jewellery Mrs. Garlough made the final by eliminating another capital city rink, skipped by Mrs. M. Chilibeck. Mrs. Bull, at the top of the draw, took the measure of Miss Peggy McLevin, Red Deer.

Personnel of rinks: Mrs. E. Garlough, skip; Mrs. P. Richards, Mrs. A. T. Williamson, Mrs. W. Law; Mrs. W. Bull, skip; Mrs. G. McBride, Mrs. Ledingham, Mrs. J. Cooke.

EAC vs SS IN JUNIOR SEMI-FINAL

Top three teams will battle for championship honors in the City Junior Hockey league, director Gordon Self announced Friday night. Playoff dates dates have yet to be set.

EAC and South Side will meet in the best-of-three semi-finals, winner moving on to clash with the first-place Maple Leafs in a best-of-seven final series. All games will be of regulation 60-minute length, with a single 10-minute overtime period if necessary.

Rinks Poised for North Consols Playoff Monday

Rinks that like to go after the biggest of all Dominion curling honors—the British Consols—are practicing their sweeping and shotmaking technique today in preparation for the northern Alberta playoff starting Monday.

Everything is in readiness for the big event, the winner of which meets the southern Alberta victor for the right to enter the Dominion playoffs.

Jim McCool, draw secretary, advised Friday night that all games will be played at the Royal Curling club, starting Monday at 9 a.m. and running through Tuesday.

Following is Monday's draw:

Moher ON SPORT

By STAN MOHER, Sports Editor

Ten Bucks Copy To Watch Gorgeous George

Week-end wind-up and consider the plight of entertainment-hungry New Yorkers who recently laid it on the line to the tune of $10 tops to see Gorgeous George in his wrestling routine . . . Frank Wolfe, president of the baseballing Cubs, is shooting pretty high in his efforts to come up with a playing manager for his Big Four league entry. . . . Not only is the Cub angel dickering for Gus Kyle, who plays hockey for you know who, but as well he has strings out for Les Webber . . . Webber, the Santa Maria youth who parlayed a foothold in Alberta semi-pro circles (along about 1936 or thereabouts) into a major league hitch with Cleveland, Brooklyn and other clubs, pitched in the Pacific Coast loop last season . . . Acquisition of either Webber or Kyle would be looked upon as a 10-strike all over the Big Four . . . Many of the Flyers will tell you straight out they consider the Bud MacPherson-Doug Lane duo as the top shock-troop combination in the WCHL.

Leo (The Lip) Durocher, self-professed believer that 'nice guys finish last,' has hit a new unpopularity low in and around New York where he makes his living as manager of Giants.

Carpenter May Not Be Back

Chances are good that 'Big Jawn' Carpenter will not be back with Calgary Puritys when the 1949 diamond schedule is broken out of the wrapper . . . The large right-hander with the sweeping curveball is studying medicine at University of Saskatchewan, is on record that he wouldn't mind a change of scenery this term. . . . Already Saskatoon interests are toying with the idea of keeping 'Big Jawn' around for the summer . . . Whatever became of Mercurys of the intermediate puck whirl? . . . Add man-with-a-problem: Gene Mason, the Matchmaker of Maul, who plans to keep on trying to reawaken the local fight front to the point where the customers again are breaking down the doors of the Cow Palace as they did for those first two MacDonald-Halligan rumbles late last year . . . 'Ace' Lowe, the onetime Western International league performer who sparked his Brandon Greys to many a triumph last season, will manage Calgary Puritys this time . . . A pretty good sticker and still-spry-enough-infielder, Lowe likely will take over at third-base for the Oilers.

Prof. Maury Van Vliet, U of A physical education head who is working for his 'master's' at UCLA, has a brother close by in Azusa, the California town made famous by Jack Benny's (or is it Bob Hope's?) "Azusa, Anaheim and Kookamonga" play on Sunkist state place names.

Nick Metz-Quakers To 'Marry'

It's in the works, with formal announcement due to be made shortly, that Nick Metz, the onetime Toronto Maple Leaf trouble-shooter, will coach Saskatoon Quakers in the 1949-50 WCHL chase . . . Is Al Rollins having a good season at Kansas City? . . . According to 'Tiny' Thompson, head Chicago scout who 'discovered' the former Flyer netminder, Rollins is "the whole Kansas City team" . . . So what does Thompson's rating of the NHL-bound netminder make of puck-rustlers of the stripe of Harry Groves, Don Slater and others well known here? Whatever became of Avery Brundage? . . . Billy Corbett, the Sedro Wooley socker who decisioned Roddy MacDonald a couple of days back, plans to take out his Canadian 'papers.' . . . Incidentally while Corbett reputedly can neither read nor write, they say he's pretty hep when it comes to telling the difference between a fin and a 10 or 20-spot . . . Attention J. Connelly: Gave some consideration to going along with your gag re the white cane and Stan Swain but had finally decided against it even before learning that Swain was not scheduled to referee last night's Flyers-Calgary clash . . . After all WCHL officials get scant enough respect, as it is.

Murdoch vs. Mills In Mat Main Event

Frank Murdoch either will make good at the Stock Pavilion Tuesday or eat the words he spoke after battling to a one-fall draw with Al (Mr. Murder) Mills several weeks ago.

After their previous engagement had run 60 inconclusive minutes Murdoch challenged Mills to return for "five minutes more" only to be rebuffed. Murdoch charges Mills was "afraid."

It's a sure bet that Mills will be trying hard to force the "slander" down the Waxahachie Wing Ding's throat when they tangle in a best-of-three falls, no-time limit affair Tuesday.

Al Oeming's weekly mat presentation also features the return of a favorite of some three years back. Chief Thunderbird, 250-pound of Saanich Indian from Victoria, will take on El Segundo's Rube Wright in the 45-minute semi-windup event.

Thunderbird's speciality is the Indian deathlock one of the grappling game's most feared holds, and has warned that he will bring it into play against the mammoth Wright.

Edmonton's Stu Hart will see service in the 30-minute special, tackling Orchid Boy Gene Bowman of Chattanooga. Tex Wilkins and Dallard Oullette meet in the preliminary.

Bear Cagers Drub Huskies By 82-31

SASKATOON, Feb. 12—(CP)—University of Alberta Golden Bears took a strangehold on the western inter-collegiate basketball championship here Friday night when they defeated University of Sastatchewan Huskies 82-31 in the first of a four-game, total-point series for the Rigby Trophy. Second game of the series will be played here Saturday.

Much too powedful for the Huskies, the Albertans led 43-11 at half time and won going away in the second half.

Lowell Williams paced the strong Alberta scoring attack with 17 points, including seven free throws in as many tries, and Erickson contributed 16 points. other high scorers for the Bears were Jim Macrae with 14, McLachlan with 13 and Dunne Stockwell with 10. Williams' sank seven free throws out of seven tries.

Golden Bears—Macrae (14), McLachlan (13), Erickson (16); Stockwell (10), Williams (17), Mayson, Barnes (2), Anderson (4), Steed (2), Laureshan (4). Total—(82).

Huskies—Bolger (5), Wheaton, Deck (5), Suttle (7), Tomlinson (3), Ratcliffe (2), McAten (4), Leakos (3), Bourk (2), Arscott. Total—(31)

Local Speedsters Showing Way at Dominion Tourney

SASKATOON, Feb. 12—Edmonton invaders captured four of the first 11 Dominion titles decided in the two-day Canadian Speed Skating championships here Friday.

Locals captured three, and Winnipeg and St. Paul, Minn., two each of the other seven events in which champions were declared.

Doreen McLeod brought the Alberta capital two of its victories, capturing both the 880-yard and 220-yard intermediate diadems, each time nosing out Norma Hayes and Henrietta Mackay, both of Saskatoon, in that order.

Babs Kasting collected a third final victory when she flashed to victory in the senior women's mile event, conquering Pat Lawson of Saskatoon and Eileen Payne of Winnipeg. Former Canadian champion Betty Mitchell, Winnipeg, is in Norway for the world championships.

WYNN COMES THROUGH

In three of the other seven championships run off, Edmontonians ran second.

B. Lydiard of Saskatoon nosed out Myrna McLeod of Edmonton in the juvenile girls' 220-yard final. Verna Currie, also from the Alberta city, was third. Saskatoon's M. Johnson ousted M. Thompson of Edmonton in the 110-yard midget girls' final, while Monty Elyea was close up to R. McKenzie of Winnipeg in the same distance event for midget boys. Murray Gardiner of Edmonton was third.

Bill Kasting of Edmonton managed to keep in the running in three senior men's events—the mile, the 880-yard and the 220-yard. He now is in the finals of all three events, and in each case is up against Frank Stack and Gordon Audley, both of Winnipeg, and members of Canada's 1948 Olympic team.

Kasting battled through single elimination heats in the mile and 880 events, finishing first in his heat in the latter while edging out Stack. He has successfully skated through two rounds of 220-yard eliminations.

TOUGH LUCK KID

Connell Kelly, star of Edmonton's junior entry, strained a leg in practice Thursday and missed Friday's competitions. He may be back in action Saturday.

Larry Johnson of Winnipeg is the new champion in the senior men's three-mile distance race. Stack, his main threat, fell on the 11th lap of the 18-lap grind and withdrew.

Bette Skene of Saskatoon skated off with the junior girls' 220-event, forcing Jo-Ann Roop of Edmonton into the also-ran class in the process.

Gene Sandvig of St. Paul, Minn., was a double winner in the intermediate class. The smooth-skating American took both the mile and 220-yard events.

MORTON LASSIES COP BASKETBALL CROWN

An adding machine Friday night gave Mortons regular season honors in the Edmonton Women's Basketball league.

Mortons and Pats, who have been battling neck and neck down the stretch for the title, came under the wire in a dead heat but a 'camera,' which toted up the for-and-against averages gave the nod to the former.

The new champs whipped Starlets 50-9 in the nightcap of a loop double-header at Athabasca hall Friday after Pats had captured the opener from Varsity Pandas by a 47-31 margin.

Mortons opened fast and by quarter time had a comfortable 13-4 lead. They added six points in the second session while holding Starlets off the score sheet to lead 19-4 at the half. Nineteen points in the third quarter and another 12 in the final completed the rout.

Kay MacBeth and Enid Dowdle each struck for 12 points in leading Mortons.

The first game was much closer as Pats moved to a 13-6 first quarter margin only to have their lead cut to 21-20 at the half.

An 18-point third session told the story, however, and Pats went on to win comfortably.

Eleanor McIntosh, Dot Allan and Dell Wilson all clicked for 12 points for the winners. Kay Tanner topped the whole parade for Pandas with 14 counters.

LINE-UPS:

Mortons—Callaway (6), MacBeth (12), Dowdle (12), Limming (6), Cramer (2), Cornelius, Mayson (8), Marsh (4), Birch. Total 50.

Pandas — Arnold (1), R. Anderson, Millar, Schwarz (2), Morrison, Silk Tanner (14), Gould (2), Nufer (6), MacPhail; Eckert (2), Brown (4). Total 31.

Pats—Gibson (2), Calder (3), Falkenberg, McIntosh (12), Cox (6), Allan (12), Wilson (12), Riddell, Williams. Total 47.

Hall of Fame Hard to Crash

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Baseball scribes whipped a third strike past Charley Gehringer, Mel Ott, Hank Greenberg and other former stars Friday when they failed to elect a single player into baseball's Hall of Fame.

In an annual Hall of Fame poll, conducted by veteran members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, no past performer was able to garner sufficient votes to join the 55 others already immortalized in the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y. A candidate must receive at least 75 per cent of the total votes cast.

Gehringer, former star Detroit second baseman, drew the most votes, 102. However, he was 12 shy of election.

Mel Ott, home run king of the National league, who spent 22 active seasons with New York Giants, placed second with 94 votes. Al Simmons, 89; Dizzy Dean, 88, and Jimmy Foxx, 85, were next in order.

Pep Regains Title Beating Saddler

Cops Unanimous Decision In Gory Slug-Fest

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Willie Pep, his face a gory mess from cuts around both eyes, recaptured his world featherweight title from Sandy Saddler, spindly Harlem slasher, on a unanimous 15-round decision Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

It was a sensational form reversal of his four-round knockout loss last October. Pep, who held the title for six years, weighed 126, Saddler 124.

A jam-packed crowd of 19,097 who paid $87,563 for the first Garden sellout since 1946, roared throughout the 15 savege rounds as the little gamester from Hartford, Conn., survived a furious last-round assault by Saddler.

POPULAR DECISION

Referee Eddie Joseph had it 10-5, judge Jack O'Sullivan marked it 9-6 and judge Frank Forbes said Willie 9-5 with one even.

Pep boxed brilliantly all the way against his heavier punching opponent, bouncing in and out with his dazzling array of jabs, hooks and right crosses.

Almost always Saddler was moving forward, measuring Pep with unblinking eyes, but the artful Pep was too much for him with his counterpunching.

Time after time in the thrill-packed brawl, Pep jabbed five or six times to Sandy's face. The pattern of the fight was an early lead for Pep, a middle spurt by the free-punching Sandy and then an eye-filling display of ring craft by Willie in the final seconds.

NO KNOCKDOWNS BUT . . .

There were no knockdowns, but both were well battered at the end, Pep more so than Sandy. The skinny 22-year-old boxer from Harlem, who held the crown less than four months, gashed Willie's right eye in the third. A 'mouse,' the size of an egg, had raised under the eye by the 10th round. In the fifth. Saddler cut Pep's left cheek and blood streamed periodically through the rest of the scrap. In the 13th he slashed open a cut over Willie's right eye.

Saddler, a 5-7 favorite, had cuts over both eyes by the eighth round but they did not seem to bother him.

Variety Teens Ready Year Book

By 'Bud Dixon

ELEVENTH GROUP of pi

Bulletin over a period of

And as we gaze into the small editorial rooms, our eyes focus on a "hive of activity." Ray Kelly the Editor, paces the room, pausing once in a while to "bawl out" orders to co-editor, Johnny Graham.

Over in the corner, we see Gloria Myers trying to remember some "talk" she overheard recently. About the rest of the room, people are frantically "digging" for this pair of scissors or that important picture.

How did this confusion come into being? That's easy. It started when the executive of the club decided to give you kids something to keep as a memento of those never-to-be repeated days, when you didn't have a worry in the world, except two or three thousand small ones.

To be featured in this book are all the things that took place in the 1948-49 season.

Remember those hikes to Hubble Beach and to White Mud Creek? Then there was that big baseball game between us and Edmon-Teens. All this and a million of other things will be clearly recalled to your memory when you see the pictures and stories in our year book.

'Nuff said about the year book for now and I'll announce the date it will be published as soon as possible.

Last Monday night our badminton and ping pong club held a ping pong tournament and the hall rocked with the sound of balls being savagely beaten back and forth.

Out of that battle royal our president emerged victoriously by beating the runner-up 21-19. That runner-up was president of the badminton club, Alan Gibson.

There were some fine matches.

On Saturday night Vri-Teens presents its big Valentine dance so lets everyone make plans to attend.

Mon., Badminton, USO Hall, 8:00 p.m.
Wed., Cloverdale Teens, Cloverdale Hall, 8:00 p.m.
Thurs., Avenue Teens, Alberta Ave. Hall, 8:30 p.m.
Fri., Riverdale Teens, Riverdale Hall, 9:00 p.m.

Truman To Meet Churchill Again In United States

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(BUP)—President Truman and Winston Churchill may meet in April when the president delivers a speech at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Truman has accepted an invitation to speak at the Cambridge, Mass. school on April 1. The wartime British prime minister will address a convocation of educators there the day before.

It is believed that Churchill will remain in Cambridge to hear the president and hold his first reunion with him since March, 1946.

Edmonton Cleric Lord's Day Alliance Officer

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Hon. Albert Matthews of Toronto yesterday was elected president of the Dominion Board of the Lord's Day Alliance at the board's 61st annual meeting.

Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, primate of the Church of England in Canada, was named honorary president. Provincial vice-presidents include:

British Columbia — R. G. Howell, Victoria.

B.C. Coast May Get Alberta Oil

VANCOUVER, Feb. 11.—(CP)—Alberta oil fields may be able to supply parts of the British Columbia coast by late this year, C. O. Nickle, a prairie oil expert, said today.

He told Vancouver Stock Exchange Alberta is producing oil faster than the "most optimistic predictions of a year ago."

"A natural gas pipe is now projected to link Alberta with Vancouver, Seattle and Portland. The proposed line route could also be used to link Alberta fields with the great American and Canadian market," he said.

ORGANIZATIONS PRAISED

City Teen Age Groups Are Widely Commended

By MAURICE GAUTHIER

From all points of the Dominion come words of praise.

Teen age groups in Edmonton are, as the saying goes, "tops" and that's the good word from a lot of folks.

"Edmonton has the greatest number of teen groups per capita of any city in Canada," said George Wilson, an eastern business executive here this week.

From Vancouver teen groups we hear words of praise on our Edmon-teen Echo and the weekly Saturday teen page.

Gordon MacIntosh, a teen age youth from Montreal, on a recent visit here said, "Edmonton teen agers sure do have a number of swell affairs and all of them seem to be well organized and patronized. Too bad we couldn't have the same set-up back home."

Various teen groups across Canada write in asking for information on our activities and most western Canadian teen groups decided that Edmonton should be the place to hold the forthcoming teen conference due to the keen interest in Teens which predominates in the city.

Teen activity has increased considerably since the first Edmon-teen group was organized at the local YMCA back in July 1944. Now, throughout the city, a series of teen age clubs or groups organize parties, dances, sleigh rides, socials, skating parties, and other forms of entertainment.

"Edmonton teens are to be commended on their organized functions which truly have cut down vandalism and juvenile delinquency in the city" says Chief of Police Reginald Jennings.

And from all sides come such commendation. We are proud that folks do realize that, as teens, we plan to be youthful adults, and not wayward children.

Edmonton teen agers owe considerable credit to the various adults, the YMCA, and others who helped organize our individual groups. But on the whole, teens are also to be congratulated for the interest shown and the attention paid to this valuable guidance. Long may teens in Edmonton reign.

EDITORIAL STAFF of the Variety Teen's year book take time out to discuss, amid much mirth, one of the articles submitted. New Teen Tie Creation Introduced In Edmonton

Puzzled?—Ask your "Girl Friday."

Such is the advice on tho new teen tie creation about to be introduced in Edmonton.

An exclusive by Montreal neckwear manufacturer, the new teen ties are, according to the salesman, Joe Silver, "creating quite a furore among teen-agers."

"And," adds Silver, "the new teen neckwear is first being introduced in Edmonton due to the great interest and activity among teen age groups in your city. Edmonton has earned the reputation of being 'first in teens' across Canada."

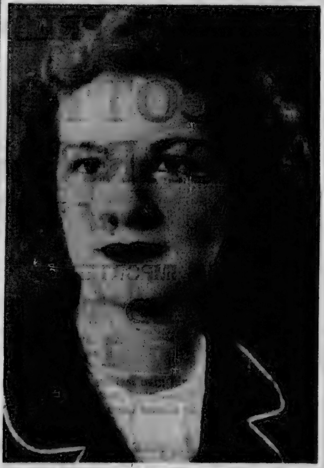
But unable to understand the stenographic symbols which adorned the tie he called in his girl friend, Norma Stewart, to read their meaning.

Ken's tie has two traffic signs which say "Soft Shoulders" and "Obey The Traffic Sign." Shorthand symbols made his tie read "This guy is always looking for soft shoulders. Obey the traffic sign. Offenders will be prosecuted."

But Norma found a tie which she thought much more appropriate, with picture of wolves and a girl. The stenographic symbols on it were, "I'm not a real wolf. I just act like one."

"The ties are mostly in sharp color creations and the stenographic symbols are hep to the teen language," said Silver. "They should prove quite popular with Edmonteens."



SWEET SIXTEEN is Betty Miller, our "Who's Who In Teens" personality this week. Betty is five-foot-seven, has green eyes, blonde hair and is a student at University High School. She plans to take up nursing. Favorite hobby is knitting and she works at the notions counter of a local department store.

'Karnival Kapers' To Be Held Feb. 19

By NANCY HUNTER

Edmonton YMCA gymnasium will be the scene of a gala affair next Saturday, Feb. 19, when the local "Y" Teens present "Karnival Kapers."

A home-cooking sale will open festivities at 3:00 p.m., continuing until 5:00 p.m.

As an added attraction, a swim gala will be held in the "Y" pool during the evening.

WESTERN GAL

Teen Queen Crowning To be Held

By Dawn Cleator

Western Canada Teen Queen will be crowned in Edmonton March 12.

Coronation will highlight the annual three-day Western Canada Teen Conference to be held at the Edmonton YMCA March 11-13.

Delegates from Teen Clubs throughout the west will be in attendance to discuss teen affairs and inter-club relations.

An "adviser's clinic" of adults will be formed to offer guidance and advise teens.

Most clubs sending delegates to the conference are expected to be represented by an adviser, who will also act as chaperon.

Business will be conducted during afternoon sessions. On March 11, the conference will be officially opened with a supper, after which a "cracker barrel" discussion will follow and a splash party.

Saturday session will consist of discussions, banquets, tours, and a big dance at Westglen Saturday night. At this affair the Western Canada Teen Queen will be chosen, from girls representing all the clubs present.

The purpose of this conference is to aid the clubs with solutions for their problems and to unite them to a greater extent.

Test Super Jet For Air Force

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton Friday announced satisfactory completion of first-test runs of a jet engine which may be used as the power unit for the RCAF's new long-range secret jet fighter.

The engine, called the Orenda, is being developed in Toronto by the A. V. Roe Company, which is also building the new plane.

The minister said tests carried out in Toronto Thursday were witnessed by Air Vice Marshal A. L. James, air member for Technical Services, who reported:

"Tests were very satisfactory in every way and the RCAF and A. V. Roe officials are pleased with the engine's performance at this stage."

New Westminster Jobless Total Up

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Feb 12.—(CP)—Unemployment is at an all time peak here with 7,151 jobless, Ernest A. Welsh, National Employment Service manager, said yesterday.

Teen Activities Prove Expensive

Club's Money Goes For A Long List Of Items, Services

By Dawn Cleator

It seems that there has been some discussion as to where Teen club money is going, so for the benefit of those who are in the class of the doubtful, we will endeavor to put your minds at ease, by listing a few of the expenses of an organization such as ours.

Every month we have an affiliation fee of $75, which goes to the YMCA for services rendered. This is for our offices at the "Y", advisers, stationery and any other services of which we find ourselves in need.

YMCA is open to us at all times and if we have any problems which we feel could be handled more aptly by adult advice—that advice is waiting for us at the YMCA in the form of the Young Y's Men.

Another item is rental of school halls for our Saturday-nite dances. Rent for Garneau gym is $20 and Westglen gym $22.50.

Signs, stationery, posters, stamps, etc., are also added to our list of disbursements.

COSTS MOUNT

If an orchestra is in attendance at our dances (nearly every two weeks) we pay them $45 a night. Prizes for every week amount to anywhere from $8 to $15. Other small items are transportation of public address system to and from dances, repairs to P.A., buying records, wax for floor, and many more.

If you still have any doubts as to where the money goes you are invited to our meetings at the YMCA Mondays at 7:30 p.m., or to get in touch with the treasurer for a look at his books.

The work is done by a very few kids and if an activity is a success, fine and dandy. If some don't have a good time, however, the comments about the Council aren't what you'd call complimentary.

Remember this is YOUR CLUB, so why not try to go along with the Council and be a little bit more considerate with the work the kids are trying to do?

If you have any ideas which could better Teens, or if you are interested in working for Teens, get in touch with any member of the Council, or leave a message at the YMCA. Your services will be more than welcome.

Remember the "Western Canada Teen Club Conference" will be held here in Edmonton, March 11, 12 and 13th. Make sure you attend.

Teens Dance In Garneau Gym

Tonight's Teen dance will be held at Garneau gymnasium.

The affair has been billed as "Mood Indigo" and promises to be one of the better teen sessions.

Music will be supplied by Dick Davies' orchestra. Program director Len Beatty has arranged for a number of events which offer valuable prizes to those in attendance.

In the colorful style that brought him world-wide recognition as a foreign correspondent, and made "Inside Europe" and "Inside U.S.A." best-sellers, John Gunther reports on his first trip to Europe since the war.

The Catholic Church and Communism in Italy . . . gypsy orchestras and the world's prettiest girls on the Danube Corso . . . Warsaw, the liveliest capital in Europe . . . Berlin, with all the vitality of putty . . . Matyas Ragosi, one of the few people alive who has had talks with both Lenin and Mr. Truman —these suggest the range of Mr. Gunther's observations.

From both sides of the Iron Curtain, John Gunther gathered this "inside" story. It's a great piece of historical reporting and evaluation which you will want to read beginning

CHILDREN OF Czechslovakia will have a first hand idea of Canadian winter and summer sports as well as the general way of life of Canadian youngsters when these dolls, with their trunks of clothes, are sent as part of the Junior Red Cross activities. Theresa O'Hara and Robert Bresden, students at St. Vincent's are holding the dolls which are being sent from grades 7 and 8.

Globe-Trotting Dolls Friendship's Messengers

A knowledge of the way of life of people of different cultures is gained through the exchange of gifts and books.

Typical of these is the story of a doll made by the Junior Red Cross members of the Komensky Higher Elementary School for Girls, Prostejov, Moravia. The doll is dressed in the Czech national costume still used on holidays, and with a letter it was sent on its way.

First it travelled to Geneva, the official Red Cross clearing station. From there it went to Calgary, the Alberta headquarters, and from there was sent to the pupils of St. Vincent's School (formerly St. John's).

St. Vincent's grades 7 and 8 pupils in turn are sending two dolls back to Czechoslovakia with a complete wardrobe to acquaint their friends there with the way Canadian children live. The two Canadian dolls will have the same trip—first through Calgary, then Geneva, then finally the girls' school in the town of Prostejov, Moravia, Czechoslovakia.

Warsaw Charges Plot By West

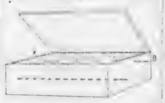
WARSAW, Feb. 12 — (AP) — Stanislaw Radkiewicz, public security minister, placed before parliament yesterday his account of what he called a plot inspired by Anglo-Saxon imperialists to assassinate members of the Polish government. He announced that [illegible] conspiracy had been broken up with the arrest of several [illegible] of former members of the wartime home resistance army which battled the Nazis.

How To Make Sewing Box

If you have a nice clean cigar box around the house you can make your mother, or yourself if you sew, a very handy spool box.

Bore two holes on each side of the box, in the centre, two inches apart. The wood in a cigar box is so soft that this can be done by driving a shingle nail in and then wriggling it out.

Push a knitting needle through one hole. On its way through the box slip it through the centre of three spools of thread and then on through the opposite hole in the box. Do the same with another knitting needle and three more spools of thread.



Paint or wallpaper the outside of the box, stick small corks on the ends of the needles so they won't slide out and there you are.

HUNTERS NEEDED

5,000 Ducks Disposess Farm Owner

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A baffled Montana farmer lifted a desperate cry today for the government to save him from the ducks.

Nearly beaten in the game of matching his wits against the appetites of 5,000 wildfowl farmer Ervin Weinheimer wrote Senator Zales Ecton (Rep., Mont.), asking for a "fair chance and an equal opportunity for the farmer."

Maybe the government should feed the ducks, he suggested.

All winter there were 500 ducks around Weinheimer's place. That is, until two weeks ago. Then, about 5,000 of their hungry relatives moved in and cast their eyes on Weinheimer's haystacks.

"So they started tearing into the stacks," the farmer explained.

Scare them away? They would not scare.

GOODBYE, TAWASIS, FROM RUTH BARRY

The time has come, Tawasi friends, for me to say goodbye to you.

It is a difficult thing to do, this saying goodbye to your friends, but I have enjoyed every day of working with the Tawasi Club and that enjoyment will be with me always. I'll watch the Tawasi Club grow and develop and always I will feel that I am one of you.

Your new editor, Miss Eleanor Page, is eager to meet you and has many ideas to interest you. I know I am leaving the Tawasi Club in very good hands.

Sincerely,

Ruth Barry

Talent and Care Used By Winners

The Tawasi valentine contest judging is over—the winners have their prizes—and the valentines have gone to the Camsell Hospital.

Linda Elfstedt, 6, is now the friend and owner of Alice in Wonderland. Her Valentine of a heart going into a piggy bank won the judges admiration at once. Honorable mention goes to David Bruce Hansen, seven, and Philip Mapplebeck, five.

Wayne Kobie, 10, won Robin Hood in the eight to 11 year group. His valentine was exceptionally beautiful, and really very simple. A hadkerchief crumpled in the centre of a paper dolley and through a cone of paper with a ribbon streamer made a beautiful posy to send a lady on Valentine's Day. Honorable mention goes to David Killips, 11, and Leonne Perrault.

Peter Mapplebeck, 13 created a dog on snowshoes. The snowshoes move and the eyes of the dog rove when you move a paw. Also the whole thing was watercolored very beautifully. Peter has won The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come for his work. Honorable mention goes to Irene Abrams, and Gladys Kostiuk, 12.

Although not a Tawasi member, Natalie Mech, of Fusilier Saskatchewan sent a valentine that she wanted to have sent on to the hospital. We are very glad to do this, and don't you think it would be a good idea for you to join the Tawasi Club, Natalie?

Several members sent in two and three valentines each and the contest has certainly been a success both because of the entries and the spirit with which you sent them in. Certainly the sick children at the Camsell Hospital will be glad to know that so many valentines come wishing them well, and only on second thought hoping for luck in the contest.

Fire Destroys Edison School

WESTLOCK, Feb. 12.—Believed to have started from an overheated stove, fire completely destroyed Edison school house about 7 p.m. Thursday. Some equipment, including desks, were saved.

Westlock fire department was called, but flames had gained too much headway before firemen had negotiated three miles over partially snow-blocked roads. Loss is estimated at about $2,000.

Milford Haven Reaches Montreal

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—(CP)—The Marquess of Milford Haven, cousin of the Duke of Edinburgh, arrived in Montreal yesterday on his way to enjoy some skiing at Mont Tremblant. The Marquess said he was in the city on business and was taking the opportunity to visit the Laurentian mountains. He will return to Montreal at the beginning of next week and then travel to Ottawa and Toronto.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1949

on the TOWN

By J. D.

A CNR motive power expert told me something the other day that made me feel sad.

He said that in another 15 or 20 years the reign of the steam locomotive will be just about over. Diesel-electric, or gas turbine engines, will power Canadian railways of tomorrow.

The great oil discoveries near Edmonton will hasten the "downfall" of our steam monarchs of the rail. "Derailment" of steam power is already far advanced south of the border, he said.

Now the diesel-electric locomotive is a wonderful piece of machinery. Diesel-electric trains give you a marvellously smooth ride. There are no jerky starts or stops. You just seem to glide over the rails. It's wonderful.

Yet I, for one, will mourn the passing of the steam locomotive. I've always loved the great, black, smoke belching monsters.

The affection goes away back to the time Santa Claus brought me my first toy train.

I used to drive the family almost crazy as I puffed, panted and whistled from kitchen to attic.

The devotion deepened after I started to school. The little one-room country school was only 100 yards from the main line of the old Grand Trunk Pacific.

Whenever I heard a train whistle in the distance I'd raise my hand to be excused from the room. Now a pupil was supposed to leave the room for only one definite and specific purpose and it certainly wasn't to watch the west-bound passenger roar past. But for a while I got away with it.

Soon teacher noted the persistent co-incidence of a whistling train and a small boy's imperative need to leave the room. I didn't get out so often after that.

In those years the man who sat on the right of an engine cab and his grimy fireman were as gods.

The sharp, staccato of a locomotive's exhaust was "frighteningly" thrilling. The sweetest music this side of heaven was the plaintive wail of the whistle that you could hear for 20 miles over the broad rolling prairies.

These sights and sounds still thrill me.

I was about 11 when a kindly engineer lifted me into his cab and let me sit in his seat of glory. I was tongue-tied with joy as I listened to the hissing steam and timidly touched the wonderful levers.

The coal-blackened faces of the enginemen and their greasy overalls were badges of a nobility to me.

City Railway Men Relax For Evening's Celebration

Discarding their caps and overalls, 280 CNR members of the Brotherhood Railway Carmen of America, Lodge 448, attended the second annual banquet and dance at the Macdonald hotel Friday night.

Alex MacLennan, Calder car shop foreman and guest speaker of the evening, commended the amiable employer-employe relations which had grown in the shops within the last year. "We don't argue problems, we discuss them," he said.

Mr. MacLennan suggested that BRC of A meetings should be more frequent to eliminate the unfamiliarity between the men of the South Side car shop and the men in the Calder shop.

Prominent in the gathering was Scottish-born, 68-year-old John Gow, old timer and retired member who had been three times president of the local union.

Toast to the ladies was delivered by Reg Lewis and replied to by Mrs. Duncan Campbell.

Students Aid Blood Bank

More than 850 University of Alberta students have answered the Red Cross' appeal for blood during the three-week campaign on the Edmonton campus.

Blood donor officials stated that credit for the successful turnout of students was due to a large extent to the university's Social Service club, which handled the large job of registering honors.

While no further clinics than the six already conducted at the university will be held, the Red Cross urged all potential campus volunteers to attend regular Monday night clinics at the downtown donor centre.

Air Force Group Meets Monday

For the purpose of forming an Edmonton Wing of the RCAF Association, a meeting will be held in Memorial Hall next Monday at 8:30 p.m.

At an initial gathering on Feb. 4, AVM G. R. Howsam, CB, MC, was appointed provisional group chairman.

Farm Short Course Opens February 22

Sixth annual short course sponsored by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and Alberta department of agriculture will be held in the Masonic Temple February 22 to 24 inclusive.

J. E. Duggan, chairman of the committee in charge of ararngements for the course, said "it would be the most spectacular ever staged here, and will be highlighted by numerous educational displays and recreational features."

On the opening day A. L. Burrows, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Hon. D. A. Ure, minister of agriculture, will welcome the visitors to the course.

Operation and cost of machinery will be the subject of an address by E. A. Hardy, professor of agricultural engineering, University of Saskatchewan.

WILL ILLUSTRATE

Discussion on haying equipment in the field will be led by Messrs. Atkinson and Curial. Pictures of operations will be shown Crop production on difficult soils will be discussed by Dr. E. F Bentley, professor of soils University of Alberta, and Dr. E. L. Doughty, soil department, Dominion experimental farms, Swift Current, will speak on moisture requirements and soil fertility in crop production.

On the second day the father-and-son partnership agreements will be discussed by F. H. Newcombe, provincial department of agriculture, and Miss C. Judson, home economics division, department of agriculture, will speak on home planning for economy, utility and comfort.

James S. Duncan, president, Massey Harris Co., Ltd., Toronto, will address a luncheon meeting at noon Wednesday.

SOIL PRACTICES

Soil conservation practices will be discussed by G. H. Sterling, department of agriculture, and B. J. Whitebread, district agriculturist, Edmonton, will report on the 1948 "save the soil campaign" and will outline future plans.

Liberals Name J. W. Wellbourne

J. W. Wellbourne of Edmonton was selected from a list of seven hopefuls to be Liberal candidate in the Jasper-Edson federal constituency at a well-attended nominating convention held in the Masonic Temple on Friday.

More than 90 delegates braved sub-zero temperatures and near-blizzard conditions to attend the session. It took five votes to determine the results.

Mr. Wellbourne was Liberal standard-bearer in the general election of 1945, but was defeated by W. F. Kuhl, Social Credit.

Comic Book War Rages

Federal Government May Be Asked In

Edmonton war on salacious comic books for juveniles may be carried to the Dominion government.

Meeting Friday at the Public Library, a special committee agreed to seek support of every community, religious, educational and service group in Edmonton, in curtailing comic-book distribution.

If adequate response is received, the Canadian government will be urged to impose Dominion-wide censorship of comic books.

Friday's meeting, arranged by the Home and School Council of Edmonton and local druggists, was attended by representatives of home and school groups, Catholic Youth Organization, Rotary Club, Edmonton Druggists' Association, Elementary Teachers' Association, Elks Lodge, Farm Women's Union of Alberta, Baptist Women's Mission Circle, Canadian Girl Guides, Edmonton Home and School Council, Public Library, Edmonton Public School Board and Edmonton Separate School Board.

ENDORSE RESOLUTION

These organizations, together with all community leagues in Edmonton, city council, city police, all service clubs, social agencies, Junior Chamber of Commerce and ministerial associations, will be asked to endorse a resolution, approved by the meeting, asking government control of comic books.

Circular letters outlining the resolution will be sent to all groups.

Response of the organizations will be tabulated, and if a majority favors the resolution, copies will be sent to Dominion government authorities.

Resolution also asks organizations to endorse a "better reading" promotional program among youngsters and to press for larger grants for school and public libraries

Meanwhile, F. X. Atherton, Home and School council member, and chairman of Friday's meeting reported partial success for northern Alberta's anti-comic-book campaign

SOME BANNED

"Newsstands in central and northern Alberta are now showing displays of cleaner, better comics than ever before," he said. Clean-up efforts resulted from co-operation of druggists and other distributors in the campaign.

Provincial News, local distributor of juvenile publications, had voluntarily withdrawn about 20 undesirable comic books from newsstands in Edmonton, the meeting was told

Similar co-operation of other magazine distributors will be sought by the committee.

BAD EFFECTS

Effect of comic book reading upon youngsters' English came under fire from W. P. W[illegible], public school board guidance director, who attended the meeting.

"I dont think a normal [illegible] would commit a crime as a result of reading comics although incessant reading of the books would be a contributing factor in the actions of a boy inclined to crime," he said. "But the effect of comic book reading upon the youth's English is definitely to be feared."

FANS OF Murray Adaskin, left, and Frances James will be anticipating their performance with the guest artist concert series in Edmonton. The violinist and soprano will appear in Convocation hall Tuesday, February 22.

CONTRALTO TO GIVE 'GRANDMA GRUNTS'

But music it is, and it will be one of a group of six folk songs to be sung by Canadian contralto Jean Watson next week. Miss Watson will be singing in McDougall United Church at the next Celebrity Series concert Friday night.

Miss Watson, who won a gold medal in the contralto division at the Canadian National Exhibition before she had ever even taken vocal lessons, has built up a reputation in Canada, the U.S. and Britain and will be making her second appearance here.

Piano accompanist will be George Trovillo.

Fine Single Records Among Arrivals Here

By Dick Sherbaniuk

It's brush-up time on some of the worthwhile single discs that have come into town recently.

Al Jolson and the Mills Brothers combine their talents to do an excellent job of Down Among the Sheltering Palms, the best version of this tune I've heard so far. On the reverse is the inevitable — [illegible] warble Is It True What They Say About Dixie? Recording is exceptionally fine. On Decca.

On another Decca disc bedroom-voiced Ella Fitzgerald does some consoling with To Make A Mistake Is Human, and she sings it oh so humanly! On the other side is In My Dreams.

Tommy Dorsey's latest and best is a peppy and lighthearted Down By The Station, sung by Denny Dennis, Lucy Ann Polk and The [illegible] reverse a tune called How Many Tears [illegible] voiced Denny Dennis. Dorsey's other new disc has Lucy Ann Polk bluesing You Know What The Trouble Is, Baby, and the Town Criers singing You Can Never Shake L[illegible] depressing. Both above discs are RCA Victor.

[illegible] latest is a Victor [illegible] with [illegible]ssy's Reverie and Beethoven's [illegible] Elise (Bagatelle in A M[illegible]

Very fine-voiced soprano Camilla Williams does well with a couple of spirituals on another Victor record. She sings City Called Heaven (arranged by Hall Johnson) and O' What a Beautiful City, with Ralph Berkowitz at the piano.

From the sound track of the movie The Magic Bow, Yehudi Menuhin scrapes his fiddle through Green's Romance (based on Paganini's Concerto No. 1 in D Major, first movement) and Mozart's Minuet in D. Both are highly watered-down Hollywood versions, but still listenable a la Menuhin. Just for comparison, try hearing the album of the Paganini Concerto, recorded by Menuhin on Victor. Quite a difference. Above single disc is Victor 10-inch. (R.W.S.)

More Interest In Art Asked By Varsity Head

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12 — (CP) — More [illegible] should be shown in Canadian art, in the opinion of Dr. A. H. S. Gillson, president of the University of Manitoba.

"We should have a better national art gallery, and in every city there should be a building where we could see the art of our time," he said in an address to the Women's Canadian Club.

". . . Art suffered a degradation in Victorian days. It was regarded as a 'sissy' thing—the right thing to be done by the 'ladies' of that period. In recent years it has come alive again. It has become a part of our lives and something that [illegible] of life."

Margarine Law To Be Introduced

REGINA, Feb. 12—(CP)—Controls governing the qu[illegible] of margarine will be urged in a resolution to be introduced in the Saskatchewan legislature Tuesday by James Gibson (CCF-Morse).

Notice of the resolution was given yesterday. It also will urge the federal government to call a conference of all provincial governments and representatives of the dairy industry to draft uniform legislation concerning the butter substitute.

Freedom of Air Hard to Maintain

Limits On Facilities And Time Are Major Factors

By Don Flach

"Freedom of the air," is a phrase that has been used widely in Canada during the last several years.

Recently, on a pro and con discussion program heard by a limited audience across Canada a speaker voiced loud and long on the menace of national radio to the very principle which permitted him to speak as he did, freedom of the air.

The speaker was echoing sentiments often spoken and often written, particularly by proponents of private radio in this land.

Just what the speaker meant by the expression freedom of the air was not defined, but taking the term in its generally accepted sense it would mean the freedom enabling people, all people, to hear or read what they choose. It is a freedom for the whole public, not for a particular few.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

In terms of reading material this freedom can be most liberally interpreted because their is no limitation to the number of printing presses to express every idea and every taste.

Not so in radio. The number of [illegible] channels are few and [illegible] the public, in its own [illegible] must see that the limited [illegible] channels are used to enable all people to hear what they choose.

Therefore, the freedom of the public will exist only if broadcasting organizations do in fact, within the limits of the medium, give a diversity of opinion and other material on the air.

DEMANDS VARIED

Broadcast time is limited. The demands of the public are varied and pressing. Therefore freedom of the air will exist in the measure that broadcasters use their facilities with balance and fairness for the expression of different viewpoints and the meeting of different tastes. It becomes a responsibility for them to meet, not a privilege to wield as they will.

To assure that some effort is made to meet this responsibility, the public must have some machinery acting on its behalf to try to see that air channels are used in the general public interest.

To be otherwise would make broadcasters private despots of the airwaves with no assurance that freedom of the air would be maintained.

In Canada, the task of operating the machinery has been placed in the hands of the CBC. Through the regulations laid down and the White Paper on Political and Controversial Broadcasting, a basis has been established to prevent abuses of the public airwaves and to maintain true freedom of the air.

EXPRESSION ENCOURAGED

In this basis, there is nothing preventing any views or ideas being expressed on the air. On the contrary the principles laid down deliberately encourage the fair and free exchange of opinions and the expression of all main viewpoints.

Any threat to the freedom of the air lies, not in the regulations themselves, but in the practices of any broadcasters who do not live up to their responsibilities.

Those who employ this phrase to sway the opinions of the uninformed and the unwary for the furtherance of personal interests should remember their prime responsibility to the public.

Book Poll Shows Changes

Books on warfare generally were uppopular.

Passion Play Set Again

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Feb 12.—(Reuters) — This little Bavarian community has decided to resume the performance of its world-famous passion play in 1950.

But to put the mechanics of the theatre in order and replenish the wardrobe of the 1,200 local peasant-actors, it will have to appeal for voluntary contributions amounting to 1,000,000 deutschemarks ($300,000).

The need for extensive repairs is due to 16-year interruption since the tercentenary performance of 1934, the longest interruption since the play was first instituted. The lack of funds now is due to last summer's German currency reform which wiped out all municipal savings—and the play is a municipal enterprise. Ever since 1840, the community had succeeded in paying all the expenses of the play out of receipts.

What is certain is that Oberammergau is determined that the play, around which local life has centered for more than three centuries, must go on. Johann Georg Lang, who produced the play in 1930 and 1934, has been chosen to produce it again in 1950.

Next May the potential actors will start to let their hair and beards grow so that a final selection for the 103 speaking parts can be made by the fall.

Emilie Loring Only Fair In Her 28th Offering

By Harold Delany

I HEAR ADVENTURE CALLING. By Emilie Loring. Toronto: McLelland and Stewart Limited. 328 pages. $3.00.

Here veteran author Emilie Loring presents her 28th novel. Though she seems to have all the correct ingredients for a good novel, I Hear Adventure Calling is only fair.

The pages are filled with charming, wealthy and faultlessly-dressed people. Perhaps this is where this volume falters. It is too much like the many contrived Hollywood B pictures where the characters are troubled — but never by lack of money.

Frances Phillips the modest and slightly wide-eyed heroine. And [illegible] veloped a strong hate for Myles Jaffrey, trustee of her estate, although she has never met him.

When the meeting does take place, the fact that Myles is hand[illegible] seems to have no effect on her opinion. Of course a girl can change her mind. Rather than give the game away entirely, let it just be said that Frances' love-life comes to a logical, if somewhat trite conclusion.

With the attractive setting of the Maine coast in summer, the gay dialogue and the attractive, if shallow, people, "I Hear Adventure Calling" should be popular with some library goers.

By Barbara Abbott

To meet a gal as sweet and intelligent, as strong and as Christian as our heroine, Ellen Carruthers, the minister's daughter, [illegible] rather delightful but maybe, just a [illegible] embarrassing.

Why any [illegible] of such character and purpose would choose to earn her living by reviewing "very [illegible] which leaves her feeling compelled to "take a bath and read the 23rd psalm before she could talk to her father" is quite beyond imagination. But perhaps that is one of those intriguing personality twists the occasional novelist so dearly loves.

This is a love story. Of Ellen, and a young air force padre, who enters the story too rarely to become interesting. They have problems, all of which could have been solved so easily and so completely in the fifth chapter. But keeping the suspense alive, Miss Keith waits for the 15th and final one before putting them into one anothers arms.

Nevertheless Yonder Shining Light has its redeeming features. Some characterizations are happily authentic, and humor—good, solid, country humor—is abundant.

It will appeal to those who like their novels strictly wholesome.

SON IS FLOWN TO SAVE MOTHER

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—(CP)—A week ago, 47-year-old Mrs. Jeanne Bricault was lying on what doctors said was her death bed. They gave her little chance to recover from a heart ailment. Then she asked to see her son. A rush call was sent to his ship, the aircraft carrier Magnificent, anchored off Portsmouth, England. Claude Bricault was rushed to Montreal by plane; his mother's condition improved at once and today she was given a good chance to recover.

Record Fight Lines Drawn

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The long-playing record battle lines are shaping up. In this corner, Columbia at 33 1/3 revolutions-per-minute; and over there, Victor and Capitol, 45.

And in the middle spinning like a dervish, is the public.

Capitol took its stand alongside Victor with a communique this week announcing that starting in April it will issue seven-inch Vinylite records playable only on new 45 RPM player-changer made by Victor. The records are practically identical to the Victor disk also slated for April unveiling.

The situation facing the record buyer is this:

He will soon have the choice of records at three speeds, 33 1/3, 45 or standard 78 RPM. But so far there is no player on the market which can take more than two of these speeds—33 1/3 and 78. Columbia has a 33 1/3 player; Victor's will play only 45, although probably a 45-78 combine is in the works.

Columbia—first in the field in the present slower-revolving derby—is now producing its LP disks in seven-, 10, and 12-inch sizes. Victor and Capitol apparently intend to stick to the seven inches in the 45 RPM groove.

Second Celebrity Series Possible Here Next Year

By DICK SHERBANIUK

Edmonton music lovers may have a second celebrity series next year.

Word has it that the University Musical Club is contemplating an annual series of concerts to feature only Canadian artists.

ONE EACH YEAR

The Varsity club, which now sponsors monthly recitals during the session by city and campus musicians, has in the past few years brought one well-known Canadian artist to the campus each session.

In the past, Claire Gagnier and Ross Pratt were the visiting recitalists. This year it was pianist Reginald Godden, who played before a healthy-sized audience in November.

The great success of the Reginald Godden concert has prompted the club to give another guest artist concert this session, and on Tuesday, Feb. 22, soprano Frances James and violinist Murray Adaskin will appear in Convocation Hall.

BOTH FINE ARTISTS

And the twin-ball concert looks like a sure fire hit, for both Miss James and Mr. Adaskin (who in private life are Mr. and Mrs.) have established themselves as top ranking Canadian artists, and their program to be played here a week from Tuesday has plenty of appeal.

Six number, including a couple of Bach, Schubert's Ave Maria, and Rachmaninoff's Night, will be presented by violin and voice. In addition, Miss James will solo several numbers accompanied by pianist George Brough who is travelling with the Adaskins. Among those solos will be three songs written by Canadian composer Robert Fleming. New compositions, these three selections will will be sung for the first time on concert stage.

Mr. Adaskin will play numbers varying from Debussy (Clare de Lune) and Kreisler to his own composition, a Sonata for violin and piano.

Music Teachers To Meet Monday

Monthly meeting of the Registered Music Teachers' Association will be held in the North Side Library at 9:15 p.m. Monday.

Reports will be given by delegates who attended the recent provincial convention of the association.

British Material Sought For PGE

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 12.—(CP)—The Pacific Great Eastern railway's extension program announced by Premier Byron Johnson yesterday may be bolstered with rails, bridge steel and locomotives from Britain in exchange for British Columbia lumber.

Premier Johnson, in explaining the move in the legislature today, said the plan did not involve barter and that the deal would be made with the condition that Britain buy $2,000,000 worth of business from lumber mills along the railroad's route.

Lonely Piano Genius Wows Be-Bop's Fans

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The spark that ignited the be-bop school of jazz music is a lonely and rarely seen pianist who lives in the San Juan Hill section of New York—a Negro tenement neighborhood.

This pianist's name is Thelonious Sphere Monk. Not for one minute does he consider himself eccentric. But:

He wears a thin and scraggly goatee because he hates razors. He wears blue berets because he hates hats. He is partial to green knit neckties, and he wears gorgeous spectacles of gold and silver whose ear-hooks are half-inch wide.

Jazz historians and critics are pretty well agreed that Thelonious is the true originator of be-bop. Orrin Keepnews, a current jazz writer, credits Monk with being "one of the very first to play this style."

Such be-bop greats as Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker and others say they gathered at Monk's feet 10 years ago to "hear the new sounds" in after-hour sessions in West Harlem.

BE-BOP DEFINED

Technically, be-bop is a dissonant and stacco spasm, played at breakneck pace. As boggie-woogie went back to Bach, be-bop must have some kind of kinship with Stravinsky for nearly all be-boppers are Stravinsky fans.

Thelonious is rarely seen. He was born in the same small shabby apartment on San Juan Hill where he lives today with his mother.

So peculiar in habit is this brooding musician he has been known to refuse jobs which were sorely needed, preferring to remain in the little room which some call the inner sanctum of be-bop.

His behavior at the piano is similar to his life—he broods and composes for two days and nights without pause. He is as likely to eat four or five meals in a few hours and sleep for two days.

VALENTINE QUEEN TO BE CROWNED WEDNESDAY BY BETA SIGMA PHI SORORITY AT TROCADERO

A self-possessed young cupid, Paddy Clarke, will shoot his time-honored arrow into a huge paper heart Wednesday and the new Queen of Beta Sigma Phi will emerge.

This annual ceremony will take place at the Trocadero ballroom during the festivities planned by Beta Sigma Phi for their Valentine Dance. It will be held Wednesday evening.

Scarlet hearts and pretty pastel flowers will carry out the Valentine theme for romance and beauty.

Six contestants from individual local chapters of the sorority will vie for the honor and the crown. Judges Mrs. Eve Henderson, Don McKay and Alderman C. E. Gariepy will make the decision.

Mrs. Philip Jean is city social sponsor.

Beta, Gamma, Iota and Xi Alpha chapters meet regularly to plan and carry out the programs arranged for them.

BETA SIGMA PHI, an international business girls' sorority boasts of well over one hundred members in Edmonton alone. An extremely active group, the fun-loving girls devote much of their time to charitable work as well as strictly social efforts. Seated on the floor, left, Mrs. Harry Hind, right, Mrs. Harold Hawker; seated on arms of chesterfield, left, Georgina Booth, right, Mrs. Jack Sanborn; on chesterfield, left, Betty Cole, Mrs. R. K. Robertson, Mrs. Philip Jean, (city sponsor), Mrs. L. Lemieux, (city council president), Barbara McLachlan. Standing left, Dodie Derbyshire, Nonie Moss, Florence Jenkins, Mrs. Harvey Mortson, Maureen O'Byrne and Eileen Therdoux.

ELEGANT FINERY FOR PARTY

Valentine Sweetness Has Dastardly Effect

By Bea Thrifty

I'm tired of murmuring syrupy sweet nothings about hearts 'n flowers . . . romance 'n beauty . . . Valentine nonsense.

Don't ever think that just because I had to wait 25 minutes for a tram in the biting, bitter wind at 7:45 a.m. . . . that my feelings toward the city transportation system are anything but kind.

As a matter of fact why should I complain, I . . . a mere peasant . . . ?

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments [illegible] (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all, and makes a splendid medicine. Keeps perfectly, tastes fine.

Its quick action in loosening the phlegm, helping to clear the air passages [illegible] has caused it to be used universally throughout Canada.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Parent's Confidence Ends Fear of Blood

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

If a child acts terrified at the sight of blood it is, presumably, because parents have acted similarly when the child has had some injury. No matter how upset the parent, it behooves her to act calm and controlled, not distraught.

Mrs. G. M. H. says her 5-year-old faints easily at the sight of blood or when he is badly hurt. Also, he cannot stand to see anyone hurt and doesn't like bandages on himself or others.

"He is a nervous child and has been taking medicine for his nerves, along with his juices and vitamins. Now, what about his [illegible] school? Won't he see blood when his teeth are pulled and won't there be accidents at school?"

Since the boy's own doctor finds that this fainting has no physical significance, then you should stop worrying about it. Undoubtedly you have made the mistake in the past of showing your own fears when he has been injured and new fright and an expectation that he will faint no doubt lead to that phenomenon. Put his head lower than his body (let him bend down) at times like these and he probably won't faint.

You might profitably spend some time telling him about the wonders of the blood which carries nutrition and oxygen to every cell in the body and picks up the waste materials and transports them away from the cells. Puncture your skin with a sterilized needle and press up a drop or so of blood. Tell him that the blood helps to wash away any [illegible] material and the bleeding can be stopped promptly by pressure with a clean handkerchief. If he becomes interested in blood itself he won't look upon it as significant of some terrible injury. Your own air of confidence that no matter what happens you will know how to deal with it ably, will do much to end his fears.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

NOTED CANADIAN JOURNALIST, Eva-Lis Wuorio, is in Edmonton for about a week, on her first trip to the West. An assistant editor of Maclean's magazine, she is gathering material for a feature article on Edmonton.

Miss Wuorio's Eloquent Pen to Picture Edmonton

By Georgina Yule

That remark, in the opinion of Miss Eva-Lis Wuorio, is typical of the western prairies.

Miss Wuorio, an assistant editor of Maclean's magazine, will be in Edmonton for about a week, and is a guest at the Macdonald hotel. She is planning a story on Edmonton for the series of articles on leading Canadian cities, recently being featured in Maclean's.

Anxious not to miss a trick during her Edmonton stay, Miss Wuorio says she would like to meet Edmontonians who could give her interesting material for her articles.

Extreme cold weather Miss Wuorio has encountered on her first visit to the West is not the only thing about the prairies that impresses her.

Scrubbed, clean look of the snow makes the country look very dazzling, she says, and the sky is like the polished inside of a gigantic arch. She was pleasantly disappointed to find that the prairies were not really vast sheets of nothing as she had always imagined.

Distinction of being the first woman appointed to the staff of Maclean's came to Miss Wuorio about two years ago.

"Journalism," she says, "gives one a box seat on life." It provides a better education for young people than a University course, for the alert reporter must have more than a smattering of knowledge about almost everything

For instance, as Miss Wuorio pointed out, she will probably find out more about Edmonton in six days than most Edmontonians know

No better proof of her theory that a writer may meet everyone in a day from a ditch-digger to royalty can be offered than a list of the people she has interviewed.

Privilege that a reporter must never abuse is that of being able to pick the best brains of the country

Proof of her versatility is the fact that she has covered such widely separated occasions as President Truman's visit, the Marian Congress, the Evelyn Dick trial and the Royal Visit to Canada

She owes one of her hobbies to an assignment she was given—that of learning to solo in an air coupe after only three hours of instruction. She still finds time to fly occasionally, and to indulge in her two favorite hobbies, oil painting and sculpture, between her frequent jaunts about the country.

Not only that, but in spite of the fact she claims she can't carry a tune, she has sung duets with Marian Anderson.

Candlelight Wedding For Myrtle Baxter

In a candlelight double-ring ceremony Thursday evening at St. Stephen's College Chapel, Myrtle Sophia Phoebe Baxter became the bride of Robert George Jack.

She is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baxter of Okotoks and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jack of Clyde.

Rev. Gerald Larue officiated at the ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She chose an ivory satin wedding gown, styled on princess lines with a lace bolero, long, tapering, sleeves and a slight train. Her full-length bridal veil of embroidered net was gathered to a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Eleanor Baxter was her sister's bridesmaid. She was gowned in sheer crepe of a coral shade. Her dress was fashioned with a full skirt and short sleeves and she wore matching mittens. Her bouquet was white carnations and she wore white flowers in her hair.

Music for the wedidng was played by Joyce Lees Moore and Miss Elizabeth Filipkowski sang The Lord's Prayer and Bless This House.

Mrs. Baxter wore a printed crepe dress with black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Jack chose a black crepe afternoon model complemented by a corsage of pink roses.

Daffodils and tulips decorated the rooms. The bride's table was set with a lace cloth. Tall, white tapers in crystal candelabra and vases of freesia flanked the three-tier wedding cake.

Mrs. David Laughlin and Miss Beatrice Murray poured tea.

Mr. Groombridge proposed the bridal toast.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack will make their home in Edmonton.

Escapes Red Domination; Finds Home in Canada

By Frances Geddes

She didn't eat it in America and the tears were from happiness, not sorrow. Until that day, she said she "didn't know there were such kind people in the world."

Melitta, at twenty, is now in Edmonton and she is almost overwhelmed by the sympathy and consideration which she has received.

For the past eight years she has lived in Austria, where, for two years she worked as an interpreter with the Americans.

She got the ham and eggs when she escaped from the Russian zone to the American one. They were gratefully received from an American major. She was all the more grateful because she had thought he was going to put her in jail.

Even jail would be preferable to living under Russian domination in Melitta's opinion. The difference between that and between living in Canada's freedom is the difference between "heaven and hell," she says.

Her story of escape from the Russians took her back to 1940 when she fled Romania, where she was born. Austrians asked her why she had come. "Communists are not so bad," they would say. She would tell them to wait until they came to Austria. "They know now," she says.

The kindness with which she has been treated since arriving here is uppermost in Melitta's mind. She was astounded when some one offered to help her with her suitcase at the bus depot. And even more surprised when a gentleman offered her his seat on a bus

"Those things just don't happen in the old country now," she said. She blames it largely on the war, the hard determination each person has to get things for himself.

Most Austrians would give up everything to be able to come to Canada. Only three per cent are communist sympathizers, she says.

Her escape was continued when she was caught in the Russian zone of Austria after the war. It involved days of hunger and fatigue of crossing and re-crossing the Danube until the freedom of the American zone was reached.

From the ages of 13 to 16, Melitta found it hard to continue her studies at the Interpreting Academy at Graz. "The Germans were always trying to push me into their Youth Organization," she said.

In the afternoons, she would be forced into working long hours in the hospitals

Most food is plentiful in Austria if a person has enough money to buy it, Melitta says. The farmers have most of the money since the war.

Melitta's father is a lawyer. Her parents came to Canada with her and are staying with relatives on a farm near Willingdon. Her grandmother is still in Austria.

If she can get it, Melitta would like to have an interpreting job. She speaks English, German, Ukrainian and Romanian.

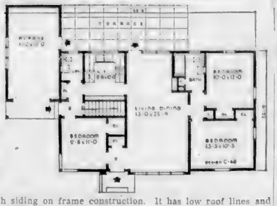
Cornell Home Features Space



The Cornell's modern kitchen is compactly arranged. There is ample space for a breakfast table under the high storage cabinets at the end of the room. The rear entrance hall leads to the bedroom, lavatory, kitchen and basement. It has a shallow cabinet for storage.

The Cornell's bedroom wing has two bedrooms, each provided with a wardrobe. The bathroom has a towel closet and there is a linen closet in the hall.

The exterior of The Cornell is finished with siding on frame construction. It has low roof lines and wide overhanging eaves. The garage is optional. The Cornell's plan has an area of 1,106 square feet and contains a volume of 21,235 cubic feet, excluding the garage.

For further information about The Cornell, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn

The Cornell has a plan which calls for a combination living-dining room. This room combination separates the service area of the house from the bedroom wing. A third bedroom to the left of the entrance vestibule can be used as a den, office, workroom or rented out, if desired. This room is equipped with a large closet, and is accessible from both the front and side entrances.

Three Factors Behind Good House-Painting Job

First, a paint of the right composition for the particular job at hand; secondly, good painting conditions at the time the work is done; and lastly, good workmanship.

The average home builder can not hope to qualify as an expert in paint because to do so he would have to study a subject of immense technical complexity.

So his best recourse is to entrust painter of known skill and good painter og known skill and good local reputation for a first class job.

But if you like to delve into such a subject to some extent, it is well to begin with the knowledge of the labor costs.

LABOR COSTS MOST

Painting labor is usually two to three times the cost of the materials. It takes a painter just as long to put on a poor quality paint as to apply the very best materials.

Therefore, it is false economy to attempt to save costs by applying cheap paints. This is also true if the owner does the job.

When buying exterior paint for outside jobs, woodwork, siding, trim, etc., the choice lies between the so-called pure single pigment paints and mixed paints.

White lead in oil is the only quality pure pigment paint employed in residential work, for white lead is the only material that combines within itself the desired qualities of durability, resistance to weather, good covering power and slow chalking which makes the whole surface easy to repaint.

The better quality mixed paints can be identified by the other elements marked on the label. Zinc compounds are frequently used with white lead to give greater hardness.

Titanium compounds will be found on many labels in combination with lead and usually zinc because titanium is extremely white and has great hiding power.

The cheaper exterior mixed paints use the pigments in relatively small quantities and make up the difference with chalks sands or barium compounds.

FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS

Manufacturers always provide carefully-worded instructions for the use of their products and failure to follow these instructions places the blame upon the user.

A good painter will take great precaution with the preparation of the surface and will wait until the weather is good, (if it is outside work) or there has been ample time for drying out plaster in the case of interior work before he will waste labor and materials under conditions that are bound to cause difficulties.

Exterior paints shoulld be renewed every three to five years even with good quality materials. The best outside paint wears gradually to a chalky surface that can easily be dusted off leaving the remaining coating before this chalking wears down to the wood.

Builders

Location Is Vital In Building Homes

Decision on Site Important To Welfare of the Family

When a family finally decides to build or buy a house a very important decision has been made for the welfare of that family. But the initial decision is only one of a series if subsequent regrets are to be avoided.

An important problem is the location of the house and a number of considerations must be taken into account to insure that the members of the family will be satisfied and remain satisfied.

The zone in which the house is built should be checked carefully. In this city, as in others, zones are allotted to single-family dwellings, others to multiple-family dwellings, and still others to various types of industry

If people choose to locate in or near industrial zone they will find it useless to complain later if they are bothered by the noise or some other aspect of the operations of an industry. Further, it is necessary to consider the possibility of some future change in zoning as the city becomes more and more industrialized.

Access to schools and churches is an important matter for families with children or with the prospect of children.

At present, the school building as possible but it is still behind the requirements. As a result overcrowding must be expected in some parts of the city. In some older parts school accommodation is plentiful.

TRANSPORTATION VITAL

Others will be interested in the distance to transit lines even if there is a motor-car in the family.

The speed and convenience with which people can get to work or to other points makes a difference in daily living.

Depending on individual tastes, the kind of neighbors the family will have to live with may be of supreme importance.

Some streets seem to be overflowing with children, others are quiet and occupied by people whose children have grown up.

Some districts have a prevalence of boarding houses while others are filled up with small houses with room for the family alone. Each district has its advantages depending on what the family is looking for.

CHECK STORES

Access to small neighborhood stores should be checked. It is convenient if the housewife has a grocer, butcher and drug store within easy walking distance. Community rinks, parks and other forms of recreation have their appeal and should be handy if possible.

It is more than likely that some of these advantages will have to be given up because of the difficulty in securing them all. Still it is worth making the attempt to include as many as possible.

Houses in an Integrated Housing Plan are likely to offer all or most of the advantages described. In such a neighborhood all the houses are new and the families are likely to be of the same age and in the same salary group. The danger of zoning difficulties is slight because the blocks are built in solidly.

WEIGH ADVANTAGES

In other respects, ownership in these developments have advantages which are worth examination, and they should be weighed against possible disadvantages.

This city still has plenty of desirable locations in all parts of the community whether the prospective home-making family desires to build a house or to buy one, whether old or newly built.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW— By Fagaly and Shorten

I DON'T CARE ABOUT THE PRICE, DEAR, BUT THAT LITTLE POLKA DOT NUMBER LOOKED BEST ON YOU. IT'S JUST RIGHT FOR YOUR FIGURE —
NO HE DOESN'T CARE ABOUT THE PRICE — LIKE HE DOESN'T CARE FOR HIS RIGHT ARM!
FUNNY HOW THOSE CUT-RATE DRESSES ALWAYS LOOK BEST — ACCORDING TO HUSBANDS
YEAH, AND GET A LOAD OF THAT SUIT HE'S SPORTING! 100 FISH IF IT COST HIM. A CENT!
BETWEEN YOU AND ME, THAT POLKA DOT LOOKS BETTER ON THE HANGER THAN IT DOES ON HER!
Thanks to — MR & MRS R. H. BRUEMMER, GALENA PARK, TEXAS

Legislative Opening To Be Colorful Event

Opening of the Alberta 11th Legislature next Thursday will be featured by colorful military participation, including a 15-gun salute by the 29th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA.

[illegible] will escort Lieutenant-Governor Bowen to the [illegible]. The guard will be supplied by [illegible] 128 [illegible] [illegible] Sir [illegible].

[illegible] for the occasion will be supplied by the RCAF band from North West Air Command.

SPECIAL ESCORT

Special officer escort for his honor is to include Maj.-Gen. M. H. S. Penhale, GOC Western Army Command; Air Vice-Marshal Ken Guthrie; Lieut.-Cdr. Llye Hoar, RCN; Assistant Commissioner T. A. Belcher, RCMP and City Police Chief Reg. Jennings.

At three o'clock His Honor will enter the legislative chamber with his escort, but will withdraw immediately and Provincial Secretary Hon. C. E. Gerhart will tell the legislators His Honor will require the nomination of a Speaker before he will convey his message to the house.

CEREMONIAL GESTURE

[illegible] by an [illegible] a request for further nominations goes unanswered, Mr. Andison will declare Mr. Dawson elected as Speaker.

Mr. Dawson will retire, put on his robes and take the Speaker's chair. The [illegible]vernor will then return and read the Speech from the Throne.

Margarine Output Aided

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—Government quarters today hailed the United States government announcement removing fats and oils from export quota controls.

It will mean, said one spokesman, that Canada now will be able to get as much edible fats and oils as she wants for the manufacture of margarine and shortening.

Canada was allotted 200,000,000 pounds last year. It was thought she could use twice that amount.

LARD MAY DECLINE

However, there was apprehension that the decontrol of the commodities in the United States may see a further decline in the price of lard in Canada and a general decline in other agricultural prices.

Disclosure of relaxation of the oils-fats restrictions came shortly after the Commons had been told that Canada had eased her exports clamps on 71 commodities including two non-edible oils—linseed oil and flaxseed oil.

Since the war brought on an [illegible] of fats and oils they have been under allocation among the importing nations. This has been handled through the international emergency food council.

APPLIED FOR MORE

Each country has been allotted a specific quota yearly. In the 1949 allocation as determined some months ago, the Canadian government found this country was not getting as much as it wanted. It applied for more.

The re-allocation, which the informant here said was expected to become effective almost immediately, would mean that the Canadian requirements could be filled without trouble.

Morinville Pioneer Dies

Pioneer resident of the Morinville district and former member of the provincial legislature for St. Albert Omer St. Germain died Friday.

Born at St. Pie de Guire, Que., September 14, 1887, Mr. Germain came to Alberta with his parents in 1890. In 1907 he settled in Morinville and practiced law there from that time until his death.

He published the first French language paper, "Le Progress", in Alberta between 1909 and 1912, and was a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Gerard St. Germain, Edmonton, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from St. John The Baptist Catholic Church Monday morning.

Margaret Rose Visits Home Of Young Officer

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(BUP)—Princess Margaret Rose, accompanied by a maid and a detective, was the house guest today of an eligible commoner bachelor and his parents.

He is Tom Egerton, 31, a former Guards officer and the son of retired Navy Commander Hugh Egerton and Mrs. Muriel Egerton.

Princess Margaret drove to the Egerton estate of Mountfield Court in Sussex last night for a weekend visit. Six policemen immediately mounted guard in front of the 22-bedroom mansion and estate employes guarded other strategic points.

No program was announced for today, but the couple probably will go to the Lingfield races and dinner dance.

St. Laurent Will Talk Defence With Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(BUP)—President Truman meets Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent here today for an informal talk which may lead to closer integration of North American defenses.

St. Laurent arrived last night in response to an invitation from the president. It is his first visit to this country since he took office as prime minister last November.

During his two-day Stay in Washington, he planned to see Secretary of State Dean Acheson, other cabinet officials and congressional leaders. He was to be Mr Truman's luncheon guest at Blair House today.

Although his trip is officially described as a social visit, St. Laurent has indicated he will bring up the question of the future of U.S. bases in Newfoundland during his talks here.

Men's Club Hears Calgary Speaker

Laymen of the church should lead in creating "bridges of understanding" between occupational, social and religious groups, Rev. C. A. Lawson, Calgary, told a banquet meeting of Robertson United Church Men's Club Friday.

He stressed the need for understanding between capital and labor, rich and poor, between race of people, and their ways of living and their religion.

"It is you, the laymen of the church, who should try to build these 'bridges of understanding,' using intelligent goodwill as the material," Mr. Lawson said.

Welfare Report Available Here

Copies of the Howson Commission report on child welfare conditions in Alberta are available on request from the provincial department of welfare, Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross said today.

He was commenting on a complaint reported to have been voiced in Calgary by Dr. Charlotte Whitton, author of the IODE report which brought the Howson commission into existence.

Dr. Whitton is said to have objected to the difficulty in obtaining copies of the commission's findings.

Dr. Cross said today there had been 150 requests for copies of the findings and that all had been answered.

Alberta Offers Wine Market

Report on wine sales in Canada came today from M. F. Jones, vice-president and W. D. Hatch, export manager of Brights' Wines Limited.

They are in Edmonton today conferring with A. J. Mason, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, and will leave for the company's head office at Niagara Falls later today.

Introduction of cocktail bars in Ontario resulted in a sizeable jump in wine sales, Mr. Hatch said. Ontario is now the biggest consumer of the company's product he said.

Plans are underway now to increase sales of the Canadian-made wine in United States, the company officials said.

Faculty Member To Address Grits

Newfoundland's entry into confederation will be discussed with the Edmonton Young Liberal club by a Newfoundlander, L. H. Hawco, of the faculty of law, University of Alberta, on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Mr. Hawco was born in Newfoundland and educated at Maritime universities before coming to Alberta and is well-versed in his subject.

The meeting is being held in the Edmonton Labor Temple.

Revenue Department has changed the name of [illegible] enforcement officers to "Intelligence Officers." The change is calculated to lull the resentment of taxpayers when the Department's "hatchet men" get on their trail.

ONTARIO HAS MOST

Ontario, for some reason unexplained, has more "Intelligence Officers" harassing the taxpayer than any other province. Of the Department's 37 "Intelligence Officers" [illegible], Ontario has been allotted 23. Quebec and Alberta only have three.

Maybe the number of enforcement officers has something to do with it—in any case, Ontario farmers, with 23 lynx-eyed and flint-hearted tax grabbers chasing them, last year turned in 48,000 farmers' [illegible]

Excommunication Order Is Widened

Pope Includes All Those In Mindszenty Trial

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Pope Pius warned today "a conspiracy has been formed against the Lord" in certain countries. The Vatican immediately pointed up his warning by excommunicating all those connected with the arrest, trial and sentencing of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary.

The Pope did not mention any country by name. However, the Vatican's action left no doubt that he meant the Communist-led countries behind the Iron Curtain, where the British foreign office yesterday charged that a drive is in progress to stamp out the churches.

WARNING SERVED

The consistorial congregation, which pronounced the excommunications, also served sharp warning on other Communist states by threatening the same penalty against all those who in the future should become involved in the same crimes" (as against Cardinal Mindszenty).

The Pope, in a 1,100-word exhortation called [illegible] April 3 "to expiate the crime of the enemies of God." He added that the enemies of God are spreading evil "almost all over the world like a virulent disease . . ."

Cardinal Mindszenty was sentenced by a court in Communist-governed Hungary on charges of treason, espionage and black market money dealings.

BAN IS WIDENED

The sacred consistorial congregation formally decreed on Dec. 28 the excommunication of all those involved in the arrest of the Cardinal two days earlier.

Today's declaration widens the excommunication to include all those connected with the trial and sentencing of the Hungarian primate. An excommunicated person is denied the sacraments of the Church and the society of Catholics.

"We speak of atheism or rather hatred of God," the Pope declared. He said "iniquity of the unrighteous is incredible and without parallel."

Carr in Court, Gets Remand

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—Sam Carr was arraigned in city court today on a charge of conspiracy and was immediately remanded without bail until Monday, Feb. 21.

The alleged [illegible] in the Soviet spy ring did not plead and did not elect his method of trial which could be before a magistrate [illegible] a higher court.

He was not represented by counsel. He was returned to county jail after telling the court he would not ask for bail at this time.

Carr, brought to Ottawa yesterday after being deported at Prescott, Ont., by [illegible] State authorities, wore a blue suit and red-and-white necktie in his initial court appearance.

The charge read in court accused Carr of conspiracy with a considerable number of Russian embassy officials and Dr. John Soboloff of Toronto to forge a Canadian passport.

RELATIONSHIP GETS INVOLVED

Here's why:

TRAGIC TRIANGLE

Love Killing Goes Awry When Widow Worries

RALEIGH, N.C., Feb. 12.—(AP)—A 23-year-old Raleigh man carefully dug a grave. He lured his landlord-friend to it, struck him with a rifle butt and buried him. Then he eloped with his victim's pretty young widow, mother of two small children.

That story, said Sheriff A. E. White of Bainbridge, Ga., was contained in a confession signed by Jack Bridges.

Bridges has become infatuated with Keston Norris Privette's wife.

He took Privette, a 22-year-old mechanic, to the grave Monday and killed him. Then he took Mrs. Privette and her two children and went to Georgia.

Here's a Story of

in 1948

Any story of Canada's largest life assurance company — the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada — is a story of "big business" because more than one and a half million people the world over are safeguarded by the protection and security of Sun Life policies.

The ever-growing goodwill which is enjoyed by the Sun Life of Canada is due to the diversity and liberality of the Company's life assurance policies, to the character of its representatives, and to the promptness and efficiency of its service to policyholders, throughout its entire 78 years' history.

Last year alone, payments amounting to more than $100,000,000 were made to Sun Life policyholders and beneficiaries.

THE SUN LIFE STORY OF 1948 is made up of many thousands of individual records, each a simple human document, yet of vital importance to those concerned:

The Story of Mrs. M.B.H.

. . . is a tragic one. She lost her husband in an automobile accident and was left alone with three young children to care for. But to her husband, responsibility reached beyond death, and his Sun Life Family Income policy provides for the family until the youngsters are grown up, and then gives to the widow a regular income for life.

T.L.M. Bought a Business

. . . and is now his own master. He planned this when, on graduating from college, he took out a Sun Life Endowment for assurance protection as well as systematic and easy saving. The Endowment matured recently, providing the means which enabled him to take advantage of a great opportunity.

C.J.S. Was a Good Salesman

who all his life looked ahead. Thirty years ago he paid his first premium on a Sun Life Retirement policy. Last October he made his final business trip and now, at 65, he enjoys the leisure that his foresight made possible.

No Need of Charity

In the small industrial plant owned by D.B.L., 100 employees never have to pass the hat when a bench pal dies. Like hundreds of thousands of workers in other industrial and business organizations large and small, they are protected by Sun Life Group Assurance, an effective instrument for good employee-employer relations.

Yes, there are thousands of such cases in the Sun Life story of 1948 — a story of service to the public, repeated year in, year out.

From the 1948 Annual Report

Total Benefits paid since the first Sun Life policy was issued in 1871: $2,126,737,233
New Assurances issued during the year: $374,652,547
Assurances in force: $4,089,234,182

EDMONTON BULLETIN "Match The Twins" Contest Rules

1. This contest is open to everyone residing in the province of Alberta, Lloydminster and district, the Peace River block and Northern B.C. with the following exceptions: Employees of the Edmonton Bulletin and their families; employees of the Bulletin Press Engraving and their families.
2. The contest will consist of a series of 160 pictures of twins which will appear in the daily issues of the Edmonton Bulletin, four a day for forty days. The problem is to match the pictures into eighty correct sets of twins. All pictures have been selected from entries in the Edmonton Bulletin's recently concluded "Twin Photo Contest" and as such were submitted as twins whose pictures were not taken more than two years apart.
3. A CONTESTANT MAY ONLY SUBMIT ONE ENTRY. An entry consists of eighty sets of twins – 160 pictures. For the convenience of contestants and to facilitate judging, all pictures are numbered. Each competitor must save the complete 160 pictures and as they match them into sets of twins, place them on the matching frames provided, side by side. Then enter the number of each twin picture of your matched set of twins, in the spaces provided on the bottom of the matching frames. On the last day the last four pictures appear, a special entry form will be provided with complete instructions. This entry form when filled out must accompany your complete set of twins.
4. If two or more contestants tie for any prize, neatness and strict adherence to the rules may be deciding factors, but the judges at their discretion may group and divide prizes equally between them or may adopt other methods as seem to them fair to arrive at an equitable distribution of prizes, or may require those tied to take part in a tie-breaker. If it is at all possible a tie-breaker will be avoided.
5. The distribution of merchandise prizes will be based on retail value, and the Edmonton Bulletin, after awarding prizes, will not enter into any correspondence, telephone calls, inquiries, etc., relative to the exchanging of prizes.
6. The correct solutions will appear in the Edmonton Bulletin commencing two weeks after the close of the contest at the rate of two sets of twins a day for forty days. In the meantime they are known to no one. A key to the solution has been drawn up and sealed and together with the pictures which have also been sealed, placed in a safety deposit box. Each entry when made becomes the property of the Edmonton Bulletin. The Edmonton Bulletin will not be responsible for entries delayed or lost in the mails. Competitors' entries which are especially bound or otherwise embellished will not be shown preference.
7. The decision of the judges in awarding prizes shall be final. Upon entering the contest the contestant automatically accepts these rules as binding in all matters affecting the contest and accepts any decisions arising out of them, made by the judges, as final and conclusive. The Edmonton Bulletin will not enter into any correspondence or discussion with any individual regarding any decision of the judges.

SILVER PRICE IS ADVANCED

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—(AP)—The price of silver advanced ¾ of a cent to 70¾ cents an ounce Friday—the first price change since last Nov. 29.

The high last year was 77½ cents, Oct. 6. The Nov. 29 price was the year's low.

Bullion dealers said the silver market developed a firmer tone recently on support of Mexican purchases for coinage, and that Friday's boost merely reflected consumer bidding for available supplies.

Montreal Stock Prices Irregular

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—(CP)—Prices were narrowly irregular in dull trading near the final hour of this short Saturday session on the Montreal Stock Exchange and curb market.

Mines were slow movers and failed to establish any definite trend.

Consolidated Smelters and Hudson Bay Mining remained unchanged in metals, but International Nickel and Alcoa preferred slipped a shade and ¼, respectively.

International Petroleum was unchanged at 10¼ in oils. Home Oil and the new Royalite issue were strong, while Anglo-Canadian slipped a few pennies at $4.70.

Molsons was up ¼ at 33¼ and Sicks' Breweries rose a similar fraction. Canadian Breweries was shaded. Algoma Steel dropped a further ½ at 47½.

Livestock

EDMONTON, Feb. 12.—Total receipts for this week: Cattle 2,002, calves 115, hogs 1,604, sheep 555.

The Edmonton cattle market for the past week was fairly active under light receipts. Cold weather and short supplies supported a slightly improved demand, and trading for the forepart of the week was fairly competitive. Prices held about steady for the first period, but from mid-week on was slightly easier, under closer grading. One lot of 150 fancy feed lot steers sold locally on Wednesday at 19.25. These were heavy Hereford steers of outstanding quality. The last sessions of the week found buyers showing more of an indifferent attitude, and bearing down on price levels. Final values were .25 to .50 per cwt. lower on the better quality cattle, than for the previous week.

Veal calves steady. Good to choice handyweights 19.00 to 21.00 per cwt.; extreme tops up to 22.00 per cwt. Heavy calves sell from 15.00 to 18.00 per cwt. Common all weights 11.00 to 14.00 per cwt.

Choice fed calves	17.00 to 18.00
Choice steers	17.50 to 18.50
Good steers	16.50 to 17.50
Medium steers	15.00 to 16.00
Fair steers	13.50 to 14.00
Common steers	12.00 to 14.00
Choice heifers	17.00 to 17.50
Good heifers	16.00 to 17.00
Medium heifers	15.00 to 15.75
Fair heifers	14.00 to 14.75
Common heifers	12.00 to 14.00
Good light cows	14.00 to 14.50
Good heavy cows	13.50 to 14.25
Fair to medium cows	12.00 to 13.00
Common cows	11.00 to 12.00
Canners and cutters	9.00 to 11.00
Bulls	12.00 to 17.00

LIVESTOCK TRAFFIC

EDMONTON.—Total receipts of cars trucked, driven and shipped by rail to local livestock agencies on Feb. 11: cars 9, cattle 562, calves 17, hogs 320, sheep 271.

Shipments on Feb. 10—to Eastern Canada, 4 cars cattle; to British Columbia—1 car cattle.

Commodity Break Hits Stock Prices

Industrials Dip 4.66 In Week; Metals Lose 4.20, Oils 2.85

TORONTO, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Stock markets were battered downward this week by the worst break in commodity prices in the United States since February, 1948. Security prices moved out of their narrow rut of the previous month when commodity prices dipped Monday, and continued generally easier for the remainder of the week.

United States markets were jittery before the break because of possibility of a business recession even though many observers believe that markets had already discontinued a recession.

The tendency has been to turn away from the more speculative stocks and invest money in solid issues with heavy industrials like steel, motors and utilities holding their ground.

Business slowed to a crawl Friday and prices continued their down trend. New York is closed today, Lincoln's birthday. The Associated Press 60-stock average declined to 62.1 this week, the lowest figure since March 18, 1948, and a loss of 2.5 from last Friday.

In Toronto, industrials dropped 4.66 on the exchange's index to the lowest figure since September, and base metals 4.20, the lowest since early October. Golds rallied slightly Thursday but failed to hold, dipping, 1.04 over the five days Western oils declined 2.85.

Volume for the five days was 4,470,000 shares, compared with 4,745,000 the previous week.

Banks were the only group to show a gain in Montreal, up .06 on the averages, while papers led the losers, dipping 10.03. Other declines were: utilities 1.2; industrials 3.8; combined 2.9; golds .61. Industrials volume was 203,000 shares, as against 203,906, and mines, 709,646, compared with 873,143.

Dollar-Saving Program Helps Trade Position

The Bureau of Statistics reported Friday that Canada's dollar-saving program reduced the Dominion's unfavorable trade balance with the U.S. to one-third of what it was in 1947.

This result from imports which were decreased to $1,805,800,000 during 1948 from $1,975,700,000 the previous year while exports to the U.S. were boosted to $1,501,000,000 from $1,304,200,000 in 1947.

In all, Canadian trade hit an over-all favorable balance with all countries of $473,100,000—double the 1947 figure of $237,800,000 and $61,200,000 more than the 1946 total.

It was the best year in history for Canadian trade, the report said, with total trade aggregating $5,747,000,000 compared with $5,385,700,000 in 1947. Imports were highest in history at $2,636,900,000 against $2,573,900 in 1947, while exports reached $3,075,400,000 against $2,774,900,000 the previous year.

Aggregate Wages Higher In 1948

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Total wages paid Canadian labor in November dropped slightly below those of October but the total for the first 11 months of 1948 was higher than in the corresponding period of 1947, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Income in November was estimated at $633,000,000 compared with $637,000,000 in the preceding month and $567,000,000 in the corresponding month last year.

Aggregate of wages, salaries and supplementary labor income for the first 11 months of 1948 stands at $6,512,000,000, or 15 per cent higher than the estimate of $5,684,000,000 in the same period of 1947.

AUTO LOANS

Husky Extends Oil Activities

Husky Oil and Refining Limited, active producer i nthe Lloydminster field, is now to try two ventures in the Leduc-Woodbend field. The company is the Canadian subsidiary of Wyoming's Husky Refining Company.

Husky-Woodbend No. 1 is on lsd 1 13-51-26W4, a quarter-mile northwest offset of the Continental-Leduc-Woodbend No. 6, part of a quarter section recently acquired from the provincial government on joint basis by Husky and the Vernon Hotel Company Limited of Vancouver.

The quarter-section is to be developed by the pair on a 50-50 basis. One of Husky's heaviest rigs from Lloydminster will drill for production in the lower cretaceous.

The second well, Husky-Leduc No. 1 on lsd 9 24-10-27 is a farmout from Imperial and a quarter-mile north of Imperial's D2 No. 95 and a quarter-mile west of D3 No. 74. A Vancouver syndicate will back this well equally with Husky. A drilling rig, being brought in from the U.S. by Husky is to be used to test all horizons down to the D2 and D3.

EXCITING STORY of romance and adventure is RKO Radio Picture's "Rachel And The Stranger," starring Loretta Young, Robert Mitchum and William Holden, opening at the Empress theatre Monday. A new thrill-packed murder mystery, "Bungalow 13" is the second feature of the twin-bill presentation.

Rugged Frontiers Back Unusual Western Story

In "Rachel And The Stranger," William Holden portrays an Ohio frontiersman who, when his wife dies, decides to marry again for his son's sake.

Matrimonial resources at the nearest frontier settlement are limited, but he purchases a pretty young bondswoman (Loretta young) for $22, marries her, and brings her to his lonely cabin.

The boy, suspicious and resentful of the intruder, spurns her efforts to become friendly, and even her new husband largely ignores her. But this situation changes when a roving hunter (Robert Mitchum), an old friend of Holden's, drops by for his semi-annual visit.

Size Standard Act Studied

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—A housewife's beef may find an answer in a proposed piece of federal legislation, a bill to establish standards for use of a national trade mark, the Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce indicated yesterday.

"There is a real demand from consumers' organizations for standardization of sizes in children's clothes," M. W. Mackenzie told the Senate Banking Committee. "Women don't like to go into one store and get, say, a size six dress which turns out to be something another store would consider size four."

It would be possible under one section of the act to lay down an agreed set of size specifications for such clothes. Any store would be entitled to mark its clothes "Canadian standard size so-and-so" if it wished to do so.

The committee heard several trade department witnesses but adjourned with the decision that it should hear from representatives of manufacturing, distributing and consuming interests before approving the bill. It will meet again next Thursday.

Shipments Halted

BERLIN, Feb. 12—(BUP)—Russian officials have closed the western Berlin borders to mercy food shipments brought into Berlin for underfed children by the Swedish Red Cross, American authorities said today.

Ottawa is Asked For Marketing Act

MPs From Food-Producing Areas Cite Necessity

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Adoption of a national marketing act to provide greater security for Canadian agriculture was urged yesterday in the commons by representatives of some of Canada's major food-producing areas.

Stressing the curtailment of food sales to the United Kingdom and the possibilities of reductions in other markets, the members said a National Marketing Act is necessary to provide for the orderly handling of Canada's surplus agriculture products.

MINISTER SILENT

The requests, made in the session's first debate on agriculture, brought no immediate response from the government. Agriculture Minister Gardiner possibly will express the cabinet's views when the debate resumes Monday.

Besides asking for the Marketing Act, the members suggested that the United Kingdom might be more mindful of what Canadian farmers did to supply her with food during the war.

BILL EXTENSION ASKED

The debate centred on a resolution to a bill providing for a one-year extension to the Agriculture Products Act, the legislation which gives the Canadian Meat Board, the Dairy Products Board and the Special Products Board the authority to purchase food needed to fill contracts with the United Kingdom.

Earlier, the Commons gave third reading and sent to the Senate the legislation providing for Newfoundland's entry into confederation as a 10th province.

Resources Minister MacKinnon said the government is giving serious consideration to the question of professional men among displaced-person immigrants being allowed to practice in Canada. It was a "difficult" problem because these professional men themselves decide who may parctice in Canada.

TALK CHEAP? NOT SO VERY

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—(AP)—Lillian Wolfe, manager and co-owner of a Brooklyn tavern, joined in a discussion of crime yesterday with two men customers. Said she:

"If the place were held up, I'd hand over every cent."

Thereupon, one of the men produced a gun and demanded cash. Miss Wolfe handed over a box containing $800, police said.

Church Versus State War Spreads in Many Lands

By The Associated Press

Britain's charge Friday that the Communists are engaged in a concerted assault on religion spotlighted the unending war behind the Iron Curtain between church and state—a war which may not yet have reached its peak.

The latest manifestation of this war is in Communist-dominated Bulgaria, about to try 15 Protestant churchmen on the usual charges of terason, spying and black market currency dealings.

RUMBLINGS SPREAD

But here are rumblings elsewhere in the countries of the Soviet sphere in eastern Europe. There are ominous portents in Czechoslovakia and signs of increasing restiveness in Poland.

New fuel probably will be added to the flames Monday fhen Pope Pius, representing the world's Roman Catholics, is expected to give voice to his wrath at the imprisonment by Hungary of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

In Czechoslovakia, most recent addition to the chain of Soviet satellites, a new campaign is reported rising against the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic church. The controlled Czechoslovak news bureau reported Thursday complaints from Communist action committees that the church takes no action against priests accused and even convicted of anti-state activity.

TEACHING BATTLEGROUND

In Poland the Bishop of Katowice, Stanislaw Adamski, has accused Polish government officials of abolishing religious teaching in some schools of southern Poland. Unconfirmed reports said six to 20 priests were arrested for reading the letter. The Polish Democratic party, which follows the Communist line, has called for a reduction of teaching of the Catholic religion in the schools. This naturally calls to mind the battle of Cardinal Mindszenty with the Hungarian government over the nationalization of church schools, which would permit government control of religious teaching.

In Romania, the Communist government has taken over all property of the Romanian Rite Catholic church and has announced that the Uniate (Romanian Rite) church has ceased to exist after deciding to return to the Romanian Orthodox church. The Vatican has protested.

Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, FEB. 13, 1949.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Friendlyinfluences, through strenuous activities are not encouraged where not essential or helpful. In military duties, be astute. Think of your spiritual welfare; enjoy fun.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Social and personal affairs can be hectic, but keep your usual calm, serene demeanor and all can be pleasant. With family or close friends enjoy religious services. Relax.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Neither very favorable nor restricting. You will enjoy day better, make all happier if you keep good humor flowing. Attend your church and other duties; healthful recreations is a duty, too.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Both strong and inactive tendencies. Program should follow church in proper arrangement; see it through with pleasantness, good sense. Make necessary changes; aid cause of harmony.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Some undue aggressiveness (possibly from others), but don't retaliate in like. An agreeable disposition can dispel anger, gloom, and bring its owner blessings. Pray for peace.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Do not expect to have all things go your way, then you won't be disappointed. Favorable day for homey matters, friendly gatherings, urgent tasks, but diplomacy is a strong need.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Fewer restrictions for you than for many today; nevertheless it is not a humdigger, either. Be wise; use your sense of balance well in weighty issues. Church first! Then good fun

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Restful activities, your church and family interests are first favored. Unnecessary and very strenuous tasks not encouraged. Enjoy wholesome social affairs.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Forget bluntness; you may have to extend yourself to help others to a more pleasant attitude today. Be kind and thoughtful at home and with associates. As you give so shall you receive.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Advice to Scorpio pertinent to your sector. Rightful Sunday interests urged, favored. All necessary work has friendly Sun rays. Enjoy a hobby in free time.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Not so encouraging or friendly for unnecessary (surely not for unworthy) endeavors. Religious services, charity affairs, your home under most favorable influences. Get needed rest.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—High aspirations will receive response and good thoughts and deeds will return blessings. Don't seek to attain the impossible if work is your day's schedule. Pray, rest.

You Born Today—Many abilities has the Aquarian. He is progressive, acquisitive, active and constructive or he is lazy and restless. Great good can be done by a God-fearing, true-living Aquarian. Make the most of your inherent talents. Curb tendency to idleness; be careful with whom you associate. Educate yourself and keep daily at your life's work, giving free time occasionally to charities. 1949 opens new channels for gains. Birthdate: John Hunter, English surgeon and anatomist; Charles, Duke of Talleyrand-Perigord, Fr. statesman.

(Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

FOR MONDAY, FEB. 14, 1949

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Expect gains on the home front for right effort; dwindling of irritating condition for time being. The basic difference is success and failure are little—this is really encouraging.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be firm today on all issues affecting your pocketbook, your character, personal effects. Merge your talents and contacts to protect home, family, community.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Don't be one to jump at conclusions, decry new and unknown ideas—listen and learn. Co-operation and study mean true advancement. Be willing to heed sound suggestions.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Stars in fine aspect today. Bypass wasteful experimenting; be logical and rational in thought and deed. Avoid adhering to your pride. It's only a viewpoint.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Vibrations clearly defined; positive inclinations. It's not what it is but what you make it, in business or personal affairs. We can only suggest, not compel; you have the last say!

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Your interpretation of your outlook is most important. Favorable day generally. Make your objectives reasonable. Know your capability and be more certain of success.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Look for improvement on most counts today, that is if you are competitive-minded and consistent. Mechanics, electricians, industrial workers, real estate operators, builders freshly sponsored.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Troubled? Down in the dumps? Just snap out of it, and forget it. You can step up and achieve. With certain consistency and some clever management, you can surprise yourself.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Centralize your powers to get top results this stimulating day. Don't cease trying; don't allow others to impose on you wrongly; be fair and you'll be okay.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Planets in good aspects. Don't beat around the bush; be direct, to the point. Those clearly understood stand a better chance than the indefinite or too timid. Romance favored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Conceive your day's plans early; build your own impetus to the goals set and there should be no halting short of success. Not "where do we go from here," but "I am going there!"

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—No dodging issues, good or not so good. Go after them like one who expects to win. Finding success only in your imagination isn't very substantial. Good outlook for the worthy.

You Born Today—Aquarius is a fixed sign of the Air Triplicity. You are innately patient, philosophical, sympathetic. These all are a great help and comfort to loved ones, of use in advancing your cause in life, education, religion. Aquarius people often delve into the sciences, art, music, reforms. You deal in facts rather than theories. Once you set your mind on accomplishing, you can reach the highest goal. Correct indecision, restlessness, tardiness at appointments. Birthdate: Sir Israel Zangwill, noted Jewish leader.

Oil Boom Slowed By Office Lack

High Costs, Labor Shortages, Timidity Said Responsible

By Lloyd Jenkins

Lack of accommodation is the peril which may make Edmonton's prospective boom go "boom," and the nub of the accommodation problem is high construction costs.

Private capital exists for the individual of integrity who wishes to build but rarely may be persuaded that it would be profitable for him to do so.

Most of the building in Edmonton so far—with the possible exception of housing which is being sold at inflated prices compared to the rest of the province, if not all Canada—has been for specific purposes. Either the landlord was going to be his own tenant or he had a guaranteed return.

Contractors admit that costs have zoomed from pre-war levels at least 75 per cent. People building say it is more like 175 per cent.

Jack Milne of Milne and Milne, real estate agents, told me that one prospective builder estimated he would have to charge $3 a foot for office space to make a new office building pay

Rents are profitable for those who built when construction costs were low. The builder today not only faces the prospect of charging high rents but also the possibility that his investment would be a white elephant in the event of a recession.

Not that this should be an active fear—if what is predicted about possibilities of Edmonton's future is even half true.

"The very persons who criticize me for letting American capital develop our oil resources are the ones who haven't enough faith to invest their money to meet a very apparent need," the Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, told me in commenting on this phase of the problem.

Many other Alberta communities have also felt the urge of prosperity or need in the past two years to construct. Concensus is this peak has now passed and that generally the supply situation during 1949 will be much improved.

But most of those responsible for Edmonton's progress feel they are being unfairly criticized for lack of accomplishment in the past two years. They ask for specific instances of how more could have been done under the circumstances

For instance, the provincial minister of lands and mines said that if Edmonton had had a large "petroleum" building one year ago, the headquarters of all the large oil companies would have moved here.

"Who was to build it?" countered Alfred Haddow, co-ordinator of planning for the city engineering department.

"The discovery well in Leduc was only drilled two years ago," said President Burrows of the Chamber of Commerce. "We could not anticipate it nor be sure how extensive was the oil find. Architects take time to prepare their plans and contractors to find out the price of materials.

"In the past two years they could not always get essential materials nor the skilled labor necessary. The businessmen of Edmonton are very much aware that there is an accommodation problem and are prepared to do their utmost to meet it," he said.

Founder's Story Will Be Told

The life and ministry of Dr. A. B. Simpson, Canadian-born founder of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, will be the theme of the young people's program to be presented by the Beulah Tabernacle Ambassadors on Friday at 8 p.m. in Beulah Tabernacle, 93 street and 107 Avenue. Against a devotional background of excerpts from Dr. Simpson's hymns and sermons, the Ambassadors under the leadership of Miss Evelyn Green will tell the story of a young Canadian churchman who, 61 years ago, founded a missionary fellowship which in 748 had 939 branches and churches in the United States and Canada and 660 missionaries in active foreign missions service.

REV. A. B. PATTERSON, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, who will be the speaker at a Gospel Meeting at the Salvation Army Citadel on Monday evening at 8:00 p.m. Special music will be provided by a group of young people from his church.

CARE Ends Hungary Relief Shipments

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—CARE, overseas relief distributing agency, has cut off shipments of food and clothing parcels to Hungary.

The agency said yesterday its agreement with the Hnugarian Communist government had expired, and that efforts to negotiate a new agreement had been unsuccessful.

B.C. Sets 5-Year Plan To Cost $90 Millions

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 12.—(CP)—A five-year plan of industrial expansion in British Columbia to cost $90,000,000 was announced yesterday by Premier Byron Johnson.

Highlights of the program:

Extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to northerly Prince George, $8,000,000; a $2,000,000 highway link from the line's southern terminus at Squamish, and an additional $3,000,000 for PGE equipment; highway construction, $30,000,000; hospital construction $20,000,000; power development, $15,000,000; irrigation $3,000,000.

ABOVE REGULAR BUDGET

The plan—unprecedented in B.C.—will be paid for with money above the regular budget, the premier announced in his policy speech to the legislature.

Development of the provincially-owned PGE railway will link the line from Quesnel to Prince George, 350 miles north of Vancouver.

In a policy speech, the premier said $20,000,000 had been allocated for hospital construction, one-third to come from the federal government and another one-third from communities in which the hospitals are located.

For expansion of its facilities and building of a new plant at Quesnel, B.C., the B.C. power commission had been given another $15,000,000.

MONEY FOR SCHOOLS

For new schools the province will pay $4,500,000. This is part of a $58,000,000 development of which $15,500,000 already has been completed.

Highways will take $30,000,000 over a three-year period. This year 350 miles of paved roads will be constructed and $1,000,000 will be set aside for secondary roads.

The University of British Columbia will take $1,500,000 for construction work, and $1,100,000 will go to rural districts to relieve the tax burden on education. On government buildings $3,000,000 will be spent.

Highland Regiment's Former OC Dies

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Lt. Col. Hugh Mackenzie, 64, former officer commanding the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, died suddenly Friday at his residence here.

He served with the Camerons during both World Wars and was a member of the Reserve of Officers at the time of his death.

He also served on the Winnipeg City Council as Alderman prior to going overseas at the outbreak of the Second World War.

Big Pro-British Vote In North Ireland Poll

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 12.—(BUP)—The strongly pro-British Unionist Party of Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke has won 35 of 48 parliamentary seats in Northern Ireland, soundly defeating advocates of merger with the Republic of Ireland, final election returns showed today.

The Irish Labor Party, which took no stand on the partition issue, did not win a single one of the nine seats its candidates contested. The party is a counterpart of the British Labor Party.

Four other seats in the 52-member parliament will be decided Feb. 22 in voting at Queen's University, traditionally a Unionist stronghold. Unionists held a total of 35 seats in the last parliament. This should be increased when the Queen's University voting is completed.

Results of the election: Unionists, 35 seats; Nationalists, nine; Independent Unionists, two; Labor, none; Independent Labor, one; Socialist Republican, one.

The lone Communist candidate, W. H. McCullough, running in the Bloomfield district of Belfast, took a heavy beating in this election. He received only 623 votes compared to 5,802 in the 1945 elections.

McCullough's opponents were Unionist Lord Glentoran, who received 14,058 votes, and Laborite Thomas W. Boyd, who received 1,386 votes.

Former British Air Secretary Dies

BELFAST, Feb. 12.—(Reuters)—The Marquess of Londonderry, Britain's former secretary of state for air, died at his home, Mount Stewart, Newtonards, County Down, early yesterday. He was 70.

Lord Londonderry was once criticized for being too friendly with Hitler, and shortly after the war broke out in 1939, he had to deny a rumor that he had been interned as a spy and a traitor.

Edson Ice Carnival Features Cast of 100

Three candidates, Misses Eileen Arbuckle, Lillian Pierce and Christine McLeod, sponsored by the CNR Intermediate and Edson high schools respectively are vying for the crown, still retained by last year's carnival queen, Miss Marian Syska.

Edson carnivals have attained the reputaion of being among the best in Alberta towns. This year's show, with more than 100 new costumes, new scenery, new numbers, and a cast of near 100 promises to be better than ever.

Edson carnival attracts spectators from as far west as aJsper, the entire Coal Branch, and as far east as Stony Plain.

Stettler Plays Red Deer Buffs Saturday Night

RED DEER, Feb. 12.—Red Deer and district fans will see their first provincial play-off hockey on Saturday night of this week when Red Deer-Lacombe Buffaloes meet Stettler Imperials at the arena.

It will be the final game of the first round in the Alberta intermediate "B" play-downs and the Buffaloes will have a five-goal margin to work on through their 10-5 victory at Stettler on Tuesday in the first game.

The team is made up of Lacombe and Red Deer boys and in spite of not much practice they have rounded into a strong squad and have been playing fast hockey. The club has won six out of seven games and should go far in the play-offs.

Court Allows Counter-Claim In Sum of $25

VEGREVILLE, Feb. 12. — Only one large debt action came before His Honor Judge J. P. McIsaac in District Court here Wednesday. In this the defendant, Mike Melnychuk of Beauvallon gained recognition of a counter-claim and was allowed $25. The plaintiff in the action was Walter B. Koren of Rusylvia who claimed $265 for damages to his car resulting from a collision with a cow owned by the defendant. Melnychuk, which the plaintiff alleged was illegally at large.

The latter successfully counter-claimed for permanent damage to the cow and loss of milk. M. J. Ponich of Two Hills acted for the plaintiff and J. M. Lazarenko of Myrnam for the defendant.

During the day several small debt cases were either disposed of or settled out of court and five chamber applications were dealt with.

Gwynne Couple Married 50 Years

WETASKIWIN, Feb. 12.—On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rupertus of Gwynne will celebrate their Golden Wedding. Both are long time residents of the district. Mr. Rupertus came from East Prussia in 1895, while Mrs. Rupertus, the former Elixena Lambert came with her parents about 1891. They were married Feb. 14, 1899 and settled on a homestead half a mile east of Gwynne, where they still reside.

They have a family of eight; Mrs. E. G. Alm of Peace River, Emil of Wetaskiwin, Ted of Whitehorse, Frank of Peace River, Richard of Gwynne, Mrs. Art Wilcox of Camrose, Mrs. L. Rheaume of Nakusp, B.C., Mrs. J. McGilvery of Monte Lake B.C. and there are 21 grand children. Both Mr. and Mrs. Rupertus are well and active.

Community Centres Jasper Meeting Topic

JASPER, Feb. 12.—"Building Community Centres" was the topic of an address by Donald Cameron, extension department, University of Alberta, at a meeting of Jasper Home and School Association here recently.

Community centres reflect the personalities of the community at large and should offer a varied program that will be educational, recreational and social.

Jasper Art Class was commended for its work and interest and Mr. Cameron expressed the hope of a larger enrollment this year in the Jasper Branch of Banff School of Fine Arts.

W. C. Cable voiced appreciation for Mr. Cameron's address and hoped the Home and School Associations would undertake more wide-spread advertising campaign. Other committees reported progress.

DISTRICT NEWS IN BRIEF

Division Teachers Seeking Increase

WETASKIWIN, Feb. 12.—Requests for new schools in several sub-divisions and an increase in the salaries of the teachers of Wetaskiwin School division No. 36 faced the meeting of the divisional trustees this week.

At the same meeting Herman Strohschein was elected as chairman of the board, replacing B. C. McRae who resigned as at Jan. 1. Vice-chairman is Albert Jackson, representative for sub-division three. The chairman and vice-chairman also comprise the finance committee.

The teachers are asking an increase in pay to a minimum of $1,700 with a $2,500 maximum, which is approximately a $200 a year raise. The board will arrange a meeting with the teachers to negotiate a schedule.

There were four delegations asking for new schools. These represented Falun, the district north of Gwynne, sub-division two, Larch Tree and West Liberty. The delegations were told the board has not yet arrived at its budget. When this is done the trustees will be able to determine the extent of new construction possible.

The division last year received $59,000 from the government in grants while taxes received from the municipality totalled $126,000. Amount of the government grant for the present year is an unknown quantity. No decision has yet been reached as to the amount of municipal taxation that will be asked.

Trochu Bonspiel 64-Rink Entry Creates Record

TROCHU, Feb. 12.—Trochu's 25th annual bonspiel with 64 entries and six competitions, the largest 'spiel in its history, reached the fours in the first two events late Wednesday.

Those reaching the fours in the Grand Challenge were H. Webb of Swalwell, W. Webb of Three Hills, J. Smith of Wimborne and Swan of Three Hills.

In the Battle Royal fours were R. Speelfan of Trochu, Gruise of Torrington, Bannister of Three Hills, and N. Danforth of Trochu, and in the Motorist event, Edlund of three Hills, R. Stewart of Trochu, L. Anderson of Trochu and R. Benedict of Wimborne advanced to the semi-final round.

On display at the rink is the trophy won by the Frere brothers of Trochu at the 1949 Edmonton bonspiel, as well as the prizes won by the late W. G. Wilson of Innisfail. A copper vessel won at Calgary in 1904, a silver urn in 1905 and a dressing case won in 1907.

Hythe Curlers Attend Bonspiels

Jack Nesbitt, Bill Oakford, Ronald Balderson and Ernie Fair entered the Beaverlodge bonspiel.

32 Rinks Enter Farmers' 'Spiel

HANNA, Feb. 12.—Farmers bonspiel started Wednesday morning with the nippy kind of weather that makes for a good 'spiel.

Thirty-two rinks competed in the two day bonspiel. A banquet was held in the Liberty Cafe on Thursday evening with a dance following in the Memorial Hall.

BUS FRANCHISE APPPLIED FOR

CAMROSE, Feb. 12.—Ernie Sander who owns and operates Ernie's Taxi at Camrose together with Abel Lyseng, approached the town council at the last regular meeting regarding a franchise for a town bus.

They were informed by the town council that aid would be given in securing a franchise just as soon as proposed route and schedule of rates are submitted.

Tofield Rink Wins Challenge At Vegreville

VEGREVILLE, Feb. 12.—Coatta rink from Tofield captured the Grand Challenge in annual ladies bonspiel by defeating Cantrill of Vegreville on the 9 a.m. draw Thursday. Shaw, Vegreville and Cunningham, Two Hills took third and fourth.

In the merchants, Korba of Vegreville, defeated McIntyre, Viking, in the final on the 4 p.m. draw. Korba had eliminated Coatta and McIntyre had won from Williams, Mannville in the fours.

UBC Girl Named Banff Queen

BANFF, Alta., Feb. 12.—(CP)—A vivacious, 19-year-old student at the University of British Columbia today ruled as Queen of this mountain resort's annual winter carnival.

Dressed in regal robes, pretty, Joyce Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrison of Banff, headed a colorful parade through Banff streets yesterday to mark the opening of the gala four-day sports program. Gaily decorated floats and scores of children in colorful sports outfits also took part in the opening parade.

J. A. Hutchinson, superintendent of Banff National Park, is scheduled to officially open the 31st annual carnival later today.

EVERBEARING RUNNERLESS
STRAWBERRY

Fruits from seed the first year: easily grown. Bush form, about one foot high. No runners. Hardy perennial. Bears abundantly from early summer till killing frost. Has an intense luscious flavor and aroma like that of wild strawberry; rich and juicy. Neat compact bushy growth makes it highly ornamental as well as valuable in vegetable, fruit or flower garden, borders, etc. A showy pot plant too. Though smaller than commercial strawberries Mont Rosa is the largest fruiting of any variety we know from seed, surpassing the popular solemacher and similar types. Its unique bush form and exquisite flavor place it in a class by itself for every home garden. Seed supply is limited. Order early. (Pkt. 25c) (3 pkts. 50c) postpaid.
